New Forest Fire Menace To Hundreds

WILL WARN CAMPERS OF PERIL

Flames Leap Highway Separating Santa Barbara and Angeles Areas

RUSH MORE FIGHTERS TO COMBAT MENACE

Laborers In Angel City Are Being Conscribed to Battle Blaze

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Leaping across the county highway separating the Santa Barbara and the Angeles National forests, fire today broke out in the latter reserve at several points, according to reports to local forestry headquarters at noon.

This is the first time in several years that the Angeles forest, which lies largely in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties, has been threatened by fire. Local authorities began immediate preparations to fight the flames.

Nearly 1,000 vacationists are camped at various remote spots in the Angeles tract. Many of them would be in danger should the fire spread. County Forester Flintham was preparing to broadcast warning of the peril this afternoon.

ENTIRE NATIONAL FOREST CLOSED TO CAMPERS

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—The entire Santa Barbara National forest was closed to campers and vacationists today while forestry officials headed new forces of men in an effort to halt the spreading fire ravaging thousands of acres of timberland.

Two hundred men from Los Angeles, conscripted on the streets of the city last night, were due to reach the blaze early today, while other details will be sent forward as rapidly as they can be drafted into the emergency service.

A new blaze in the Pine Canyon area was sweeping toward the Ridge Route today, according to information reaching local headquarters. This fire, now between 10 and 15 miles from the highway, is even worse than the previous Pine Canyon blaze, it was declared.

Six Fires Raging

Six fires, two of them serious, were raging in different sections of the Santa Barbara forest today. The new Pine Canyon fire is in the direction of Manzanita, a small settlement, which may be wiped out. Between five and six hundred men were being concentrated today at a camp in Fish Canyon, ordered to hold back the fire wall and prevent it from reaching the extensive timberlands of the famous Liebre range.

Emergency fire fighting forces are being rounded up at the local Plaza, the leading place of the unemployed. Forestry officials who can speak Spanish drive up in motor trucks, ballyhoo a bit until they get a crowd, and then explain the situation to the idlers. Several hundred men have been obtained in this manner and rushed to the danger points along the fire front.

MORE NATIONAL FORESTS IN PERIL ZONE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—The Klamath and Sierra national forests today were added to the zones of activity in the fight of California against the forest fire menace.

Fires in those two forests, which had been of minor importance previously, have spread during the last 24 hours until they have reached serious proportions.

In the Tahoe forest a little progress is being made against the

Prosperity Due Farmers View; Prices to Soar

CHICAGO, July 15.—Prosperity is dawning for American farmers, especially in the wheat and corn-growing states, according to B. W. Snow, foremost crop expert and statistician.

Present high grain prices are based on sound economic conditions and will continue to even higher levels, Snow declared today in an interview with the United Press. They are not caused by government or political manipulations, he said, with emphasis.

The American wheat crop this year is only three-fourths the size of the 1923 crop, Snow estimated, and with small surplus stocks on hand, the law of supply and demand is certain to bring higher prices.

Wheat and corn are expected to estimate the increased value of this year's major crops, the expert believes farmers will benefit to the extent of between $750,000,000 and 1,000,000,000 more than last year. (Copyright, 1924, by United Press)

SPECULATORS GAIN RICHES IN GRAINS

Arthur W. Cutten and James A. Patten 'Clean Up' On Side of Rising Prices.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Speculators in grain have cleaned up enormous sums of money on the side of rising prices, it was made known today in La Salle street brokerage houses. One of the most successful "investors" was Arthur W. Cutten, who is reported to have made a profit of $1,500,000. Cutten made his money in corn. James A. Patten, who cornered the wheat market in 1910 and profited to the extent of several million dollars, then lost huge sums in an unsuccessful attempt to corner the cotton market, also is understood to have profited. Patten "invested" in oats.

"I felt all along that corn was worth more money," Cutten said, "so I bought and held on. Then I began selling at 84 cents and upward."

Cutten made a turnover of some 3,000,000 bushels of corn. Patten was said to have taken over 2,000,000 bushels of oats at a time when everybody else was dumping.

TELLS SALE OF EXPLOSIVE IN MURDER CASE

(By United Press Leased Wire) SANTA BARBARA, July 15.—The prosecution today sprung the surprise witness in the dynamite murder case of J. J. Maguire, killed when his small shack was wrecked by a terrific explosion.

Fred Estrada, a San Luis Obispo county powder man, testified that he gave Postmaster W. H. Downs, of Los Olivos, 12 sticks of dynamite a few days before Maguire was killed. Downs was introduced to him, Estrada said, by Harry Taylor, a brother-in-law of Downs.

Postmaster Downs, Taylor Downs, his father, and W. F. Crawford, a rancher, joint defendants in the trial, instantly lost their nonchalance appearance when Estrada took the witness stand. His testimony was the first indication that the prosecution had discovered the source of the explosives.

Burt Chriss, a Buellton rancher, testified that the day before the dynamiting he overheard Crawford say to Postmaster Downs: "Now Downs, don't get cold feet."

Deputy Sheriff John Longawa testified he heard Crawford say after his arrest that "if Bill Downs had any guts he'd have done the job himself." Longawa also said Crawford offered to produce the guilty man if the prosecution would free the two Downs men.

CHINA FLOOD DEATH TOLL HELD HUGE

Thousands Feared to Have Died, Hundreds of Villages Reported Razed

(By United Press Leased Wire) PEKIN, July 15.—Thousands of lives are reported lost and hundreds of villages destroyed in the Honan, Hunan, Anhui and Kiangsi provinces of China, which have been devastated by floods and landslides brought on by prolonged rains.

Tremendous financial losses have been incurred throughout the western part of the country. Pekin itself is virtually isolated except for the Tien Tsin railway line, which is threatened with inundation.

Trade Area Inundated

The entire western district of Kiangsi, the westernmost railroad of China, was destroyed and the railroad at the point buried under landslides and debris.

Some lives have been lost there and the property loss runs into millions of dollars.

All foreigners are reported safe. Pekin is threatened by breaking dykes along the mountain river to the eastward where soldiers are toiling day and night at constant repairs.

Tien Tsin is at present not flooded, but this is only being prevented by the efforts of an army of coolies, working at the dykes.

Engineers propose drastic measures to save the city, suggesting cutting some of the dykes and permitting the water to overflow into the low rice lands between Tien Tsin and Pekin.

The railroad lines running between Pekin and Hankow are between Pekin and Sui Yan are both without traffic.

The floods were worst in the four provinces—Honan, Hunan, Anhui and Kiangsi—each of which reported the wiping out of hundreds of villages and terrific loss of life.

FARMERS BUY FIVE GRAIN AGENCIES

Charter Granted to Organization Sponsored by Farm Bureau Body

CHICAGO, July 15.—Consumption of the purchase of five leading grain agencies by the farmers of the country, through their co-operative selling agencies, was made known here today with the announcement that a charter had been granted for the Grain Marketing corporation.

The five concerns are: Armour Grain corporation. Rosenbaum Grain corporation. J. C. Shaffer and company. Rosenbaum brothers, all of Chicago.

The Davis, Noland, Merrill company of Kansas City.

The Grain Marketing corporation was organized under the co-operative marketing laws of Illinois.

The purchase of the five companies was sponsored by the American Farm Bureau federation.

Its purpose is to place at the disposal of the farmers a single marketing structure to eliminate middleman's profits and thereby increase the margin of profit for the producer.

The new company has been capitalized at $20,000,000 and will begin functioning immediately, handling the grain crops now coming to market. The purchase of the five companies gives the new organization control of 50,000,000 bushels of elevator space at strategic points.

Farmers now are enabled to market as well as to produce grain, sponsors of the purchase plans stated.

All officers of the five companies will surrender their offices and facilities here and abroad to the new company. Savings of millions of dollars annually will be saved for the farmers, either in better prices or investment in the parent company, it was stated.

U. S. EATING LESS WHEAT SINCE WAR

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 15.—Hundreds of Americans, though they have not been aware of it, have lost their appetites for wheat. Hundreds of others are eating much less wheat and products of this cereal than they did before the World war.

And thus the rural economists at Ohio State university here account, in part, for the huge wheat surplus which is taxing the capacity of the country's granaries and the patience of no small wheat belt.

Figures compiled by the government disclose that during the three years from 1920 to 1923 each person in the United States consumed an average of 4.22 bushels of wheat annually. But in pre-war times, from 1909 to 1913, each person consumed an average of 5.06 bushels a year.

Thus it follows that, through the changing American appetite, approximately 90,000,000 bushels of wheat less than were consumed before the great conflict meet the present demand. The current surplus is said to be in the neighborhood of 200,000,000 bushels.

This stupendous decrease in wheat consumption, generally overlooked, had much to do with creating the surplus. Ohio state economists believe.

"If our pre-war appetite for wheat products should return," C. R. Arnold, an Ohio state economist, points out, "we would consume annually about 90,000,000 bushels of wheat more than we do now. That would reduce material for the 200,000,000-bushel surplus to over domestic consumption."

The university economists do not attempt to definitely place the responsibility for the great wheat surplus, although they admit the introduction of wheat substitutes and "wheatless days" during the war probably had much to do with the decline in the use of the cereal after the war.

With dairy products, however, the reverse has been true. According to the university economists, the per capita consumption of dairy products during 1919 averaged the equivalent of 831 pounds of whole milk. In 1920, they say, it rose to 841 pounds; in 1921 to 923 pounds and in 1922 to 950 pounds.

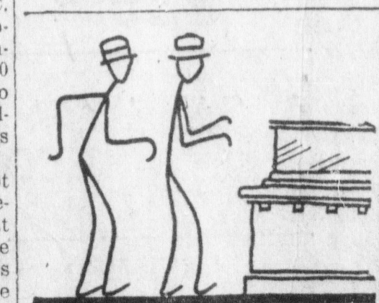

Alleged Bigamist Ordered to Prison

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 15.—R. E. St. Clair, alias Dr. Robert Franks of San Francisco, automobile thief and alleged bigamist, was sentenced in federal district court here today to serve eighteen months in the Atlanta penitentiary. The sentence was given St. Clair after he had pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile, in Jackson, Miss., and driving it to this city.

St. Clair, a World war veteran, is alleged to have deserted a wife whom he married in San Francisco shortly after leaving the army and to have fled with a girl in Milwaukee. He was arrested in Lake Charles, La., several weeks ago.

Legion Would Poll Solid School Vote

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—An American Legion post here recently voted to go to the polls in a body to vote for a $35,000,000 school bond issue which the Legion maintains is imperative to provide adequate school facilities in Los Angeles. It is estimated 20,000 children are out of school here each day through lack of facilities.

Pet Bear Tears Boy's Scalp; Man to Rescue

REDDING, Cal., July 15.—John Done's little bear is 2 years old—has become a mid-sized bear and has a tendency to forget old acquaintances.

John, who is only 10 years old, and therefore comparatively younger than the bear, was nursing a badly-lacerated scalp today, after bruin became angry while playing with his master yesterday at Baird, on the McCloud river. Fourteen times the bear's sharp teeth tore at the lad's head before a hotel attendant could beat him off.

Physicians said the boy was not seriously injured.

HEARING IS WAIVED BY A. B. FALL

Tells Newspapers He Has Nothing to Say Regarding Oil Scandal Indictment.

EL PASO, Texas, July 15.—Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, waived preliminary hearing when arraigned in federal court here today on indictments growing out of the naval reserve oil leases.

He supplied $5,000 bond. Fall declared "I have nothing to say," when approached by newspapermen.

HURLS BOLT BY SENDING PILOT TO PRISON

Seemingly expectant of a county jail sentence, George W. Wright of Orange today ventured a startling protest when Judge B. Y. Williams of the superior court sentenced him to a term of from one to three years at San Quentin. Wright had pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

After he had been sentenced to prison, in his apparent surprise, Wright beseeched the court to grant him probation or reduce the punishment to a jail sentence. But the court stood firm and refused to consider Wright's plea.

Wright's appearance for sentence today recalled the sensational circumstances of his arrest. Wright, beseeched the court to grant him probation or reduce the punishment to a jail sentence. But the court stood firm and refused to consider Wright's plea.

Miss Opal Stephenson, Santa Ana girl who was with Wright at the time, was thrown from the car when the crash occurred, and sustained a broken jaw and other injuries. The wreck occurred near the corner of Fourth and Mabury streets, this city.

Subsequent to his arrest, Wright, together with George Smith of Tustin, was charged with an attempt to rob Y. M. Takuze, Escondido Japanese. They were held to answer at a preliminary hearing recently before Justice J. B. Cox.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson today stated that the robbery charge would be withdrawn in Wright's case, but that the prosecution of Smith would continue.

Convict Woman Here as Maker of Illicit Rum

Convicted by a jury in the superior court here, where she was tried late yesterday on a charge of manufacturing liquor, Mrs. Segundo Lemos of Cypress today was held in a county jail cell, pending sentence by Judge R. Y. Williams. Judgment is scheduled to be pronounced Friday at 9 a. m.

Despite her protest that the still said to have been found in her possession was the property of another, and had merely been left in her charge, the jury returned a verdict of guilty after deliberating twenty-five minutes.

Livestock Freight Cost 4 Per Cent

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Freight charges took 3.78 cents out of each dollar paid the shipper of livestock in 1923, according to a study just made by the National Live Stock Producers' association. This study is embodied in a bulletin issued by the bureau of railway economics and shows that the shipper after deducting freight charges as well as other marketing costs received a net return of 93.55 cents out of each dollar paid him for live stock.

HIGH COURT IN L. A. TO HEAR CASE

July 22 Date Fixed to Air Actions Aimed to Forestall Small Suits

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Thorough test of all phases of the California law prohibiting aliens ineligible to citizenship working land on shares or in any manner profiting from the soil under contract arrangement will be made before the state supreme court in Los Angeles starting July 22.

The purpose of the suits is to forestall scores of small suits which might be expected to be filed in the superior courts of the state when the law is fully enforced when the next cropping season opens. The suits will clear up all uncertainty in regard to the law and allow land owners as well as aliens to know exactly where they stand.

Agreement to bring the suits to trial within a short period before the special session of the supreme court was made here in a conference attended by justices of the high court, State Attorney General U. S. Webb and his staff, and attorneys representing land owners and aliens who will come under provisions of the law.

Three of the suits are appeals, the fourth an initial hearing. The first case is an appeal by Yoshitaro Mitsuno, an alien Japanese, from the Los Angeles county superior court decision in favor of the state, which involves the right of the legislature to amend the initiative and referendum provisions of the constitution to forbid aliens entering into contracts to sow, tend and harvest crops.

The second case is an appeal from Imperial county involving a cropping bonus contract between George A. Carter, a citizen and land owner, and Hakam Singh, an alien Hindu, by which Singh was to get 80 per cent of the sale price of the crop.

The third case is an initial hearing on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to determine the validity of the penalty sections of the law. The Japanese alien client of a Los Angeles attorney is to be arrested under the punitive section, and the legality of the arrest will be tested. This suit is technical, but is expected to bring out some of the strongest evidence for and against the legality of the law.

The fourth case is an actual appeal by Takeo Makimoto, an alien Japanese, from the Los Angeles county superior court. It also involves the validity of the bonus crop contract. The contention of state authorities is that the bonus contract is a loophole through which aliens are attempting to evade the penalties attached to violating the established cropping contract procedure.

Assert Lawyers Levied Vets Fees

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Certain lawyers in San Francisco and of the state are threatened by an expose by Major A. E. Gruenier, chairman of the American Legion rehabilitation committee. The former are alleged to have been charging fees for aiding former service men for making out the adjusted compensation blanks. Several complaints have come in to state headquarters, and Major Gruenier has been authorized to prosecute in case sufficient evidence can be secured. The Federal law prohibits the charging of fees for aiding ex-service men for filling out these adjusted compensation blanks.

Fear 2 Families and Miners in Forest Fires

KELLOGG, Idaho, July 15.—Two families, those of George Mason, foreman of the Bunker Hill mine, and Ben Royce, Kellogg livestockman, were reported still missing today. They are believed to be trapped by the forest fire that is sweeping Pine creek canyon.

Though thirty-five miners from the Constitution mine reached safety here early today, it was reported that some twenty others—miners from the Nabob mine—are still in the woods.

Buildings at the Nabob and Constitution mines were completely destroyed and mine telephone lines are cut off, rendering it impossible to obtain immediate reports as to the safety and whereabouts of those known to have been in the danger zone.

FINE POLICE OFFICER IN DRUNK CASE

Celebrates Wife's Birthday By Taking Three Drinks; Didn't Know They Were So Potent.

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Patrolman Paul O. Niles, in full uniform, reported to his lieutenant.

"You're drunk, Niles," said the superior officer.

"Yes, sir, I am," the patrolman admitted, drawing himself up to his most imposing height.

He explained to the police commission today that it was his wife's birthday, and they had a little dinner party. Three drinks, which he didn't expect held much potency, almost put him under the table.

Niles was fined $22.63 and returned to duty with the admonition that when his wife has another birthday he had better take her to the movies.

CHINESE FLOW IN N. Y. TOW? TO BE PROBED

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 15.—Police and federal checkup on the rapidly increasing Chinese population in Syracuse looms in an investigation into the source of the sudden influx of Mongolians.

In a report to the United States district attorney's office here, Detective Irving Blanchard, chief of the police Oriental squad, called special attention to the rapidity with which the Chinese population is expanding here.

Belief that a number of Chinese laundries in Syracuse are being employed as smuggling centers is expressed by the police.

"They are certainly coming in from somewhere," Blanchard said. "There are five times as many Chinese in Syracuse today as there were a year ago."

It is barely possible that they are coming from other cities, such as New York, Buffalo and Chicago, after being crowded out there for one reason or another, to establish a colony here. In that case they are presumably entitled to residence in this country.

"It is more likely, however, that they are slipping in illegally, either over the Canadian border or from the eastern seaboard ports. They are the hardest race in the world to get any information from, and only rarely is it possible to find a Chinese who will talk. They pretend ignorance of the English language and refuse to give any information about themselves."

"The fact is that Chinese are increasing in numbers here so rapidly as to provoke surprise. They are starting laundries, grocery stores, restaurants and similar enterprises, and nine times out of ten these places sell Oriental liquors and drugs."

"The police as well as the federal authorities would like to know why and how they are coming in here so fast."

According to Assistant United States Attorney Donald P. Gorman, in charge of immigration matters, here, careful investigation of the alarmingly increasing alien smuggling cases in this district has failed to disclose any foundation for belief that either Chinese or Japanese are being brought in from Canada.

"Alien smuggling is rapidly getting to be as big a problem as liquor smuggling," he said, "but so far we have been unable to establish a single fact that connects either a Chinese or a Japanese with it. Of the hundreds of aliens we know have been illegally smuggled in within recent months, 90 per cent are northwestern Europeans and the rest from other parts of Europe."

BIG DRIVE ON FOES OPENS

La Follette Leaders Name Thirteen of Sex on National Committee

WIFE OF CANDIDATE ACTS AS COUNSELLOR

Chiefs Believe They Will Be Able to Present Formidable Front

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, July 15.—Thirteen women were appointed to the Progressive national committee today as La Follette leaders launched a special campaign to attract the feminine vote.

Wives of farmers and laborers throughout the nation will be called to the polls to file protests against the leadership of the Republican and Democratic parties.

The special woman's campaign is being conducted with the advice of Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, wife of the Presidential candidate. She acted as the senator's counselor in the fight for suffrage in Wisconsin.

La Follette leaders believe the women's vote in November will prove a greater factor in the final result than at any time since national suffrage was accomplished. They feel it has been the weak point in their campaign, but with the organization of the special drive, believe they can present a formidable front.

La Follette's record as a leader of the women's equal rights fight in Wisconsin will be used as a basis for the movement.

Actual work of the women's group will be started when the new national committee meets here Friday and Saturday. The membership of the committee was increased to forty-five to accommodate some of the newly selected women.

The thirteen women appointees include:

Mrs. Frances C. Axtell, Bellingham, Wash.; Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, Women's University club, New York; Miss Jennie Buell, Michigan State Grange, Ann Arbor; Mrs. George B. Coleman, Boston; Mrs. Mabel C. Costigan, Washington, D. C.; Miss Gilson Gardner, Alexandria, Va.; Miss Elizabeth Hauser, Girard, O.; Miss Isabella Kendig, Washington, D. C.; Miss Rose Schneiderman, president Women's Trade Union league, New York; Mrs. Sadie E. Scott, Huntington, Ind.; Miss Ethel Smith, Washington, D. C.; Miss Fannie "John Ladies' Garment Workers' union, New York; and Miss Elizabeth Christman, National Woman's Trade Union league.

COOLIDGE TO BE REAL CHIEF OF HIS DRIVE

WASHINGTON, July 15.—President Coolidge will be the real manager of his campaign for re-election and William Butler, Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, personal mentor of the president, will be his chief assistant.

The "advisory board" which C. Bascom Slomp, secretary to the president, said would have the "real management" of the campaign, is to be a "shifting body" with no "set personnel." These facts were brought out today by an official White House spokesman in outlining plans for the Republican campaign.

DEMOCRATS PLANNING FOUR-CORNERED DRIVE

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Democrats probably will direct a four-cornered campaign to the voters of the country to put over John W. Davis as the next President of the United States. The nominee has been in conference with party leaders from all sections of the country since his selection and it has been fairly well established that headquarters are to be opened at Chicago, New York and San Francisco.

The South, of course, will claim Davis as its own, and the nominee will receive notification of the nomination at his boyhood home at Clarksville, W. Va.

Davis is now busy collecting ideas for the first political broadcast to be delivered when he receives notification of the nomination. But in the words of Isadore Dockweiler of Los Angeles: "Davis' speech of acceptance will surprise everyone."

Forest officials meeting at Newhall, Cal., last night proposed wholesale conscription of campers to fight the flames and suggested closing of all national forests within the state.

In British Columbia sixteen ranchers from the Doukhobor colony near Nelson, B. C., were missing last night. Twelve had been accounted for today, having driven by horse and wagon through the fire zone. Nine were suffering from severe burns. The horses were so badly burned that they had to be shot.

Thirty miners from the Constitution mine, reached Kellogg, Idaho, during the morning after having fled throughout the night ahead of flames which threatened momentarily to cut them off or overtake them.

In every Pacific state except Nevada, Arizona and Utah serious fires were reported.

NEWARK, N. J., July 15.—Newark boasts of an infant born with two perfect front teeth. Chandler John Woskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Woskey of 142 Hillside avenue, was born ready to eat his breakfast, having two perfectly formed and full grown teeth in his lower jaw. Physicians and nurses at Newark Maternity hospital say it is a rare case. He is the first baby ever born at the institution with teeth.

Attempt to Trap Coyote Nearly Cost Life of Hunter

FORT MORGAN, Colo., July 15.—An attempt to dig out a coyote almost resulted fatally for Samuel Thompson when he was buried under nine feet of sand, nine miles south of here, as the excavation made to unearth the animal caved in.

Thompson was buried so completely that not even his hat was visible. Frantic work on the part of his companions saved Thompson from smothering. He returned home apparently none the worse for his experience. The coyote escaped.

1 of 3 Sisters Excluded From $20,000 Estate

A $20,457 estate left by the late Louise Oliver, who died at Orange July 5, was willed to her two sisters, Margaret E. Oliver and Katherine E. Oliver of Orange, their petition to the superior court here asking probate of the will, revealed today.

The three sisters were joint owners of the Sunshine apartments at Orange, the deceased's interest being valued at $20,000. The remainder of the estate consisted of an interest in San Bernardino property.

Another sister, Caddie Oliver of Escondido, was not mentioned in the will, which also omitted a niece and nephew in Los Angeles and a nephew in Kansas City, Mo., the remaining legal heirs.

$16,000 DITCH FALL BALM IS JURY ISSUE

Whether R. F. Ware will be compelled to pay W. G. Bradford of Costa Mesa, damages for injuries sustained by Bradford when he tumbled into an open ditch at Costa Mesa some months ago, today was a question in the hands of a superior court jury here.

After two days of trial in Department 1 of the court, the Bradford-Ware case went to the jury this morning.

Testimony in the case showed that Ware, while running for a doctor along Harper street, Costa Mesa, one night last October, stepped into a trench that extended from the side of the road toward the center. He claimed to have sustained three broken ribs and partial paralysis. The trench, he alleged, had neither light nor barrier on it.

X-ray photographs of Bradford's injuries, and blackboard diagrams of the human body, as well as of the Harper street trenches, were placed before the jury to aid it in reaching a decision on Bradford's claims. Bradford asked $16,150 damages.

He was represented at the trial by Attorneys W. F. Manton and O. A. Jacobs. Attorney Walter Durst, Los Angeles, appeared for the defense.

U. S. LETS DOWN BARS FOR STUDENT

NEW YORK, July 15.—After six weeks on Ellis island, in which he was taken to the Cunard liner Aquitania to be deported and then brought back to face a rehearing, Jacobus Albert Earle, 25 years old, an agricultural student from South America, is free today in the custody of H. G. Armstrong, British consul general in New York.

Earle arrived on May 10 on the Cunard steamship Benicaria. He came here to enter the Iowa State Agricultural college at Des Moines, and brought letters from colleges in South Africa.

One of his letters of introduction said: "He will work until the university opens in an ice cream manufactory, the place being secured for him by members of the state college faculty."

When this came to the attention of immigration inspectors Earle was classified as a laborer instead of a student and was sent to Ellis island. Despite the fact that he proved to the board of inquiry that he is a bona fide student the letter went against him and on June 18 he was ordered deported.

Clemency was sought by Dr. Stephen P. Dugan, director of the Institute of International Education, at 52 Fifth avenue. Dr. Dugan exchanged many letters and telegrams with the department of labor, and it was finally agreed by Commissioner Huband that the young man should be allowed to enter for a year as a student, in the custody of the British consul general.

Earle was so disheartened by his experience at Ellis island that he wrote to Commissioner Huband asking that he be deported without further investigation or exchange of correspondence.

"If I had to stay another week at Ellis island," he said, "I think I'd have tried to swim to some British ship to get to friends in Holland."

Earle is a member of one of the oldest Boer families in South Africa.

L. A. Doctor Saves Lives of Yacht Party in Storm

SEATTLE, July 15.—Dr. Edward D. Jones, prominent Los Angeles physician, saved the lives of a party aboard a small gas boat when he took command after a violent storm had driven the captain of the craft below deck for 24 hours.

Dr. Jones, according to members of the party, stood a long vigil and handled the craft like a veteran seaman. The party included Dr. P. Hardy of Tecumseh, Mich.; Otto Johnson, retired business man of Randolph, Kan.; J. P. Fautette, retired business man of Los Angeles; several camp men, a cook and a motion picture camera man. The vessel sailed for Los Angeles last night.

Bones of Mammoth Are Found in Basin of Tulare Lake

HANFORD, July 15.—A mammoth, it is believed, lumbered up to the shores of Tulare lake to get a drink, ventured too far into the ooze of that great inland sea, and with vain trumpeting and straggling, slowly sank from sight.

That was 500,000 years ago. More recently, a dredger engaged in building a levee for the Kings County Development company, brought up from a depth of 16 feet several huge bones.

L. M. Stone, manager of the company, sent the find to A. D. Schindler, president of the company, who in turn gave it to Dr. E. L. Furlong of the University of California.

Dr. Furlong looted the bones over and identified them as belonging to the individual whose tragic death is recorded above.

Goes To Jail as $100 Fine Unpaid

Unable to pay a $100 fine when he was found guilty today by City Recorder W. F. Heathman on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, T. L. Martin of Santa Ana went to the county jail for a period of 100 days. Martin was arrested following a raid on East Third street last Sunday night by Police Officers Lentz, Smithwick and Lutz.

G. R. Williamson, 502 S. Garnsey street, forfeited $50 bail when he failed to appear before Heathman to answer a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor.

L. Hancock, Reno, Nev., paid a $15 fine when he was found guilty of drunkenness. He was arrested last night.

News Briefs

Listed among the students at the six weeks' summer session of the University of Southern California from Santa Ana are Cleo M. Allen, Iva Carl, Ralph Cole, Edith Dornell, Della Franzen, Pearl Nicholson, Suzanne Parker, Mildred Ranney and Alice Stone.

The union meetings of the Southern California Evangelical churches will continue tonight at the camp ground here when the Rev. W. Grote of Los Angeles will preach. The Rev. O. D. Wonder, of San Diego, was to speak this afternoon. Other pastors who have addressed the sessions are the Rev. Messrs. W. C. Mengedogh, A. J. Boelter, W. E. Matz, U. S. Schauer and H. A. Drager.

Miss Rosaline Kellogg has returned to her residence at 119 Orange avenue here today after having spent a week at Pacific Palisades attending the Southern California conference of the United Presbyterian church.

A meeting of the West-Northwest Improvement and Development association will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the city council rooms of the city hall. W. F. Croddy, secretary, will read his report for the year, and short talks will be given by Mrs. Clara R. Cushman and L. W. Crawford.

Harry L. Hansen, assistant cashier of the First National bank here, has returned to Santa Ana after a three weeks' trip that carried him as far south as El Paso, Tex., and as far north as Duluth, Minn. He left here June 19 to attend the international convention of Lions' clubs, held at Omaha June 23, 24 and 25, going from there on a fishing trip north to Duluth.

Donald McArthur of San Diego, representing the Old Mission Oil company of that city, and H. E. White, representing the Los Angeles interests of the well, today stated that a demonstration test of their well at Fairview was being planned for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. They extended an invitation to the public to be present.

No meeting of the board of trustees of Santa Ana was held last night. When the board adjourned last Monday evening it was with the understanding that no meeting would be held last night unless urgent business, requiring the immediate attention of the trustees, developed during the week. The next meeting will be held Monday evening, July 21.

Helpful suggestions gleaned from a talk given by Charles L. Estey of Los Angeles before members of the Orange County Cleaners and Dyers' association, assembled last night at La Habra, were today being recalled by nearly a score of local members of the association who met for dinner and an interesting business session. The next meeting will be at Huntington Beach.

Word was received here today of the death of Loma Linda sabbatarian last Wednesday of Ray Jordan, 23, whose wife was Miss Rose Marie Hagerman, formerly of this city, and niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Beissel, 315 Orange avenue. Mrs. Beissel has just returned from Redondo Beach where she has been with Mrs. Jordan at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hagerman, 310 Pearl street. Interment was made at Inglewood Saturday. Mr. Jordan is survived by his wife and a child, aged nine months.

Meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Concordia hall, Orange, the County Oratorio society will continue the rehearsals for "Elijah," which will be the society's offering of the fall season. Under the direction of F. C. Salbach, the rehearsals are said to be growing in interest, despite the absence of many members during the vacation season.

Forty-one Santa Ana boys, sun-burned, tired and happy, were to return to their homes late today after spending the past two weeks

JUVENILE HOME GIRLS ELUDE OFFICERS

After conducting yesterday in Van Nuys a search in which only minutes separated them from three girls, aged 16, who were said to have escaped from the juvenile home here in an automobile with five Santa Ana youths, R. R. Miller, county probation officer, and Mrs. J. W. Allen, his deputy, today had placed in custody three of the suspected youths.

The prisoners are Ray Burch, Bruce Petty and Ed Arnold, the latter of whom was implicated. Miller declared, when the first two were alleged to have confessed their part.

The girls, who had left a small house near the out-skirts of the city, evidently were warned of the officers' approach, Miller added, and eluded them. Arnold, who had become separated from the three girls, the probation officer stated, also was seeking them when Miller located the youth on the Ventura boulevard.

Inspector Sid Smithwick of the police here still was seeking to discover, he said, what connection, if any, the three boys had with the theft of $85 from occupants of two Fourth street apartment houses, late Saturday, when the juvenile home "break" was made.

Police authorities in all the coast cities have been informed of the disappearance of the girls, with whom one other local youth is supposed to be fleeing. A fifth boy, said to have been the police informant, was not being held. Two of the girls are of American and one of Spanish parentage.

FULLERTON MAN SEEKS JOB OF SUPERVISOR

Announcement today of the candidacy of Perry C. Woodward, Fullerton rancher, assured a contest for the post of supervisor in the third district.

Woodward, a former member of the Fullerton city council, arrayed himself against Supervisor William Schumacher of Buena Park, who is seeking re-election. Announcing his candidacy today by taking out nomination papers at the office of County Clerk J. M. Backs, Woodward intention of making a "clean campaign, win or lose," with "no mudslinging." He realized, he said, that he would have a hard campaign, but said he was determined to conduct it fairly.

JAIL WOMAN AFTER SHOOTING AFFRAY

Following a shooting affray in which Mrs. Francisca Pedrigna, 22, of Stanton was said to have fired three shots at Mrs. Flora Martinez and one at Matilde Huerta, Mrs. Pedrigna today was in the Orange county jail here.

The shots were said to have been fired yesterday when, according to Mrs. Pedrigna, she was threatened with a club by Mrs. Martinez on the streets of Stanton. Mrs. Pedrigna stepped into her husband's pool hall and returned with a revolver, according to Mrs. Martinez, and fired at her and her companion, Mrs. Huerta, failing however, to hit either woman.

Mrs. Pedrigna told arresting officers that the two women have for some time circulated damaging stories concerning her, and insulted her on the street. Mrs. Pedrigna, who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ed McCallum, Joe Scott and E. E. French and Constable Jesse Elliot, was to have been arraigned this afternoon at the justice court at Anaheim on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Traffic Officers May Lose Belts; Are Not Worried

Loss of the Sam Browne belt from the uniform equipment of state motorcycle officers, if it occurs, will be taken philosophically by the traffic squad assigned to Orange county, it was indicated today.

"I'd as soon see the Sam Browne belt disapproved," said Henry Warner, captain of the county squad, in discussing the war department's objection to use of the belt by traffic officers. "I never did feel right about wearing it," Warner confessed. "It seemed to me that, because the belt was part of the regular army uniform, the traffic officers had no right, morally, to wear it. Now it appears that our legal right is being questioned by the war department, and I, for one, will not be sorry to see the belts go. They are comfortable to wear and, in my opinion, do add much to the appearance of the uniform."

at the Y. M. C. A. camp, Osceola, high in the San Bernardino mountains. Several Santa Ana persons who went to the camp for the week-end are bringing the boys home in automobiles. This year's outing was the first for Orange county boys, exclusively. Fullerton Y. M. C. A. boys left today to take over Camp Osceola.

PLAN FIGHT ON $2000 BROKER BOND LAW

That real estate dealers of California are preparing to go before the state legislature at its next session and fight for elimination in the real estate act of a clause requiring brokers to give a $2000 bond, was disclosed here today by Freeman H. Bloodgood, realtor.

At the same time, Bloodgood disclosed that he had been appointed by Henry Barbour, president of the California Real Estate association, as chairman of the association's legislative committee, one of the most important of the committees maintained by the organization.

The appointment followed the resignation of E. J. Morrissey, Sacramento, whose business, it was said, would not permit him to give to this highly important chairmanship the time it deserved and required.

Bloodgood formerly was real estate commissioner for the state, he being the first real estate commissioner in the nation.

"Bloodgood brings to the committee a vast experience in handling questions of real estate law," said Glenn D. Williamson, secretary of the state association.

"The provision of the state law imposes an annual useless expense of $250,000 on brokers," Bloodgood said here today, in commenting on the opposition of brokers to the section. "Each dealer is required to give a bond, the intent of which is to protect clients against dishonest dealers. I always opposed the law and always will. It accomplishes nothing and adds a very material expense. In this state, where the escrow system is used in transferring property, a bond is unnecessary. Clients are fully protected by deposits made in escrow and by certificates of title issued by title companies in the state."

"If we fail to eliminate the amendment, it is very probable brokers will organize a bonding company themselves to provide bonds at a less cost than is being charged today by bonding companies."

Must Choose P. O. or Lighthouse Job

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—E. N. Yarnall, deputy lighthouse tender at the harbor here who is said to be the only government light keeper who lives more than twenty-five miles from tidewater, must decide whether he will give up his post as light tender or that of postmaster at Fontana, seventy miles inland, according to a communication which he has received from Washington, D. C., requesting his resignation from one position or the other.

DOG SWALLOWS $1000.

EATON, Md., July 15.—Lucky, a Boston bull terrier, recently underwent an operation for "diamonditis." He was found to have swallowed two diamond rings worth $1000, a penny, a quarter and a dime. His owners first became suspicious when they saw the dog swallow the leg of an alarm clock.

Long Beach were visitors at Laguna Beach Sunday. Mr. Normile and Mr. Bryant are two of the men who recently bought land at Dana Point for the purpose of laying out golf courses and building a yacht and country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neilson of Long Beach are spending the week at the Laguna Beach hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Newton of Corona are visiting with Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith this week.

Roy Butters of 5524 Van Ness avenue, Los Angeles, received medical attention from Dr. Smith on Sunday when one of his fingers was badly cut by a fishhook.

Kenneth Hunter of South Pasadena was treated by Dr. Smith Sunday. He was injured by a stringray.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Beebe of Anaheim visited Dana Point Sunday. On their way back they stopped at Laguna Beach and had a very pleasant visit with Mrs. A. G. Walters and Joe W. Skidmore.

Miss M. Royal and Miss C. Royal of Los Angeles left Sunday for their home, after spending a week at the Laguna Beach Villa. Miss C. Royal spent her first day at Laguna on the sand and while there fell asleep, and was badly sunburned. Her sister who is a professional nurse gave medical aid but the young girl was not able to walk for several days and did not get a chance to spend more days on the sand. Although her vacation was ruined Miss Royal showed a gameness to be admired, because she said she was glad to have the added rest of staying in bed.

THIS BRIGHT BABY GIRL

Brought Joy to Home. Mrs. Price's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottdale, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me."

Mrs. ROBERT PRICE, Scottdale, Pa. Lockhaven, Pa.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use.

Loyalty to Santa Ana Is Theme of Address To Business Girls

"Most of you are familiar with the history and achievements of Florence Nightingale or Jane Adams, two wonderful women who reached the pinnacle of their separate endeavors in the history of a wonderful country. I would bring to your attention, a third, Ana Atnas, the personification of a glowing, glorious, shining star!" declared P. S. Lucas, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association yesterday, addressing the Business and Professional Women's club assembled for the usual Monday luncheon at St. Ann's Inn.

Mrs. Jewel Warner and Miss Teresa McDonough, members of the July program committee appointed by the president, Miss Mabel McFadden, had arranged with Mr. Lucas to speak and his examination of the club's constitution led him to select as his theme, "Economic Advancement."

"Revealing to you that Ana Atnas is none other than our own Santa Ana, Queen of the Southland, lovable, attractive, progressive and fast becoming modern. I appeal to you to give her your most kind and conscientious consideration. I would tell you of the opportunities presented to you as her citizens to help in a concrete way, to build toward a still bigger, better and brighter Santa Ana" continued the speaker.

"Progress is possible through mass co-operation. The business men and women who pioneered the way, those who have gone before, those who are still here, having been established in business a long time, have had much to do with the making of Santa Ana what it is today. Because of the putting of their shoulders to the wheel, the Santa Ana of today has been possible and I feel that there is a pleasant obligation placed upon every man and woman of this city, to not only stand behind them, but to support them and help them to continue towards real progress."

"First we must remind (and educate if necessary) the great mass of the people of this city along lines seemingly forgotten. Tell them about Santa Ana industries, enterprises and merchandising. Ask the question, 'Are we supporting home industries?' or are we daily buying commodities and failing to ask the all important question, 'Is this a Santa Ana product?' The best possible way that I know of to build your city is to BUY IN SANTA. That's the way to help, that's the way to co-operate and support Santa Ana. Ask for Santa Ana goods whenever and wherever possible, and buy from a local merchant, the one you know makes his home here among us, the one whose interest is always for Santa Ana and the one who supports the movements that have made Santa Ana a fit and pleasant place for you and me to live in. Remembering every time you do so, that 'A Dollar Spent in Santa Ana Is Invested,' invested and circulated over and over again for the upbuilding of the city."

"Perhaps the question has arisen in your minds. What has buying in Santa Ana got to do with the continued progress or development of Santa Ana? "Because in the real development of a progressive city, must have modern, well lighted, well kept streets; you must have modern public schools; you must have adequate churches, lodges, and similar institutions; places in which community interests may be developed, or concentrated, or expressed, or controlled; you must have a Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, a Chamber of Commerce, a Y. M. C. A., a Salvation Army, a Red Cross, a hospital, Boy Scouts and many others. Take these things out of your city, would it grow, or progress or prosper? NO, a thousand times NO! It would soon stagnate and become a cross roads village."

Very largely we get financial support for such institutions from the merchants and business men, and a few other local people of Santa Ana. Take any of the drives and you'll find the solicitors running up and down—where? The main streets of our business district and there among the local merchants and business men, they're getting the lion's share of what they're after. So I'm trying to show you how the local merchant nobly does his share of building up Santa Ana, and because of it he should be heartily and solidly supported in his every effort."

There are about 500 retail merchants in Santa Ana. In checking over recent subscription lists I find that they recently helped build a better Santa Ana, as follows:

Y. M. C. A. (both drives), $45,000; Salvation Army, $4,300; Y. W. C. A. hut, $1,000; Ebbeh club, $2,000; Elks Christmas fund, $300; American Legion welfare, $300; Red Cross, $400; hospital, $17,150; Boy Scouts, $1,750.

In checking over the subscription lists, all I could do was to figure in those that I actually knew were merchants and as there are a number of new merchants come within the last year, with whom I have not yet acquainted, you will therefore concede the above figures to be conservative. Then also bear in mind that the above amounts were given by only one-sixtieth of the whole population of our city!

Last year the citizen tax payers of Santa Ana spent in taxes for schools alone $724,644.84 or about three quarters of a million dollars! This was for thirteen grade schools, the high school and junior college. That's a splendid use for tax money. Taxes are something that all of us pay either directly or indirectly and they are essential to the best interests of city and county government. Our life, health, education, our fire and police protection, our judicial system, our streets and highways, our social service, our agriculture and our business depends materially upon

News Notes of Interest To Women

Register Family Will Be Entertained at Baumgartner Home

Scheduled for tomorrow afternoon is an event in which each individual member of the large Register family, takes the liveliest interest for Mr. and Mrs. John P. Baumgartner are to be hosts to the "family" at a delightful affair at their Laguna Beach home.

Work in every department will be speeded up and not later than 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, waiting automobiles will have whisked the last of the force oceanwards. The affair will be truly Mr. and Mrs. Baumgartner's "party" and everything is being planned to give the utmost pleasure to their guests.

Dressing tents will be available on the beach for use by those who wish to go swimming. In the early evening an al fresco supper will be enjoyed on the grassy expanse of the lawn with W. K. Duffy of the Elks club as chef. In the evening, a very special moon has consented to shine on those inclined to enjoy the beauty of the shore line by moonlight while down at the pavilion, dancing will lure those not so romantically inclined. The Baumgartner summer home at "Our Village" is one of the most beautiful along the shore and the sweep of ocean in view from the great windows and wide porches, is unexcelled any place along the coast. There will be nearly one hundred to accept the hospitality of the "chief" and enjoy the afternoon and evening as his guests.

Small Maid Honored On Birthday By Grandmother

Little Miss Evelyn Lamb was a dear little birthday maid recently, when she was honor guest at a happy party planned by her grandmother, Mrs. C. O. Neff at her home, 1061 West Third street, when the small Evelyn's friends were bidden to celebrate her fourth birthday.

The affair was last Friday, July 11, and Mrs. Neff was assisted by Evelyn's aunt, Miss Mamie Lamb, in carrying out her arrangements. Rooms were brightened with great vases of beautiful dahlias and other summer blossoms, while in the dining-room was the prettiest sight of all when the little group of children found places around the pretty table and feasted their eyes on the pink trimmed birthday cake with its four rosy candles. The cake was served with ice cream while at each place was a dainty basket filled with bonbons as favors.

It was a gift party indeed, for each small guest found a pretty gift from Evelyn's grandmother, to keep for her very own.

Merry games were played and pretty gifts were showered on Evelyn from her little friends, Leona Walker, Luella Anderson, Helen Faulkner, Mabel Harrison, Helen Machado, Masters Charles Harrison and Fred Machado and Miss Mamie Lamb.

Crepe Frock of Simple Lines

Just three little ruffles of organdy given to one side but not to the other, make this crepe de chine frock distinctive and relieve the plainness which does get a little monotonous. The skirt is a wrap-around and ties in a large bow on the opposite side from the trimming maintaining an equal distribution of favors. This is the type of dress that is seen everywhere these days and is made up in all types of material and all colors.

Delta-Alfa Class

The Delta Alfa class of the First M. E. church had a very enjoyable meeting yesterday evening at the home of Miss Beulah Stone, 712 Mortimer street.

An interesting business session was held, presided over by the president, Miss Irma De Barr. Guessing games were much enjoyed. The hostess assisted by Miss Knoll and Miss Thomas served delicious watermelon.

Those present besides the hostess were Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Steward, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Glascock, Mrs. Stone, the Misses Olive and Bertha Briney, Pearl Kimball, Edna Knoll, Irma De Barr, Clara Barnes, Alta Thomas, Mamie Lamb, Minnie Wild, Esther Hendrickson and Ida Reed.

Pythian Sisters

Thursday night at 8 o'clock, the usual chapter sessions of the Pythian Sisters will open at the K. of P. hall in Tustin, but all business will be concluded as rapidly as possible and a social evening introduced in honor of the new members as well as the winning side in the recently staged membership drive.

An entertaining program is promised and will be followed by a refreshment hour.

Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion auxiliary of Post 131, of Santa Ana, will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock sharp, at the Legion home. There will be an executive meeting of the officers at 7 o'clock before the regular meeting.

Elks Sponsor Dancing And Program Down at Balboa Pavilion

A royal purple effect was noticeable at Balboa Beach last night when Santa Ana Lodge B. P. O. E. entertained at a dancing party at the Balboa pavilion which proved one of the happiest social events of the summer.

Arranged by a social committee under the chairmanship of "Bill" Cle, the affair was successful from every standpoint and was enjoyed by at least three hundred Elks and their wives or sweethearts. The pavilion orchestra offered an unusually delightful dance program and during intermissions the punch bowls filled with the essence of winter sunlight, clear, cold and frosty, proved as popular as the cool, wind-swept loges.

The dancing was broken at intervals by entertainment features introducing various artists. Included were the members of the "Harmony Eight" and their leader and director, Miss Holly Lash who gave many beautiful vocal numbers. "Adey" Anderson proved highly popular with his songs and an amusing monologue while the four young Elks of Orange who comprise the self-styled "Harmony Hounds" achieved the success which always attends their appearance in quartette and solo work.

Completing the programmed numbers were Spanish dances presented by Los Angeles talent and thoroughly enjoyed by the merry-makers.

Relief Corps

Thursday will be a busy day for members of the Relief Corps for in the morning the W. R. C. Sewing club will meet at G. A. R. hall and spend the forenoon with needlework for the World War veterans at Sawtelle. A pot-luck luncheon will be enjoyed at noon. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock, the usual W. R. C. session will be held with an interesting program promised.

Members having bits of outing flannel or of yarn left from knitting are requested to bring such remnants to be made into bed socks and small knitted caps which the boys at Sawtelle appreciate very much.

Cool Dishes

Open Cottage Cheese

Two thin slices whole wheat bread, 4 tablespoons cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons minced celery, 4 tablespoons chopped new carrots, 3 tablespoons chopped nuts, salt and pepper, paprika.

The cottage cheese should be quite dry. Season well with salt and pepper before adding remaining ingredients. Mix lightly and spread on bread. Sprinkle with paprika and serve as an open sandwich.

Total calories, 379. Protein, 112; fat, 81; carbohydrate, 186. Iron, .0014 gram.

Cherry Punch

Three lemons, 2 oranges, 1-2 cup shredded pineapple, 2 cups stoned cherries, 1 cup sugar, 1 quart ginger ale, 2 cups iced tea, 1 banana, 1-2 cup choice cherries (stoned).

In a large bowl put juice of lemons, the oranges sliced, the pineapple, the cherries and the sugar. Press with a wooden potato-masher and let stand for an hour or longer to extract the juice. Press the fruit to a pulp and strain. Add the strained juice to the ginger ale and tea. Add the banana, sliced, and the cherries cut in quarters. Put a tablespoonful of crushed ice in each glass to serve.

Harlequin Punch

Three lemons, 2 oranges, 1-2 cup shredded pineapple, 1 cup strawberries, 2 cups stoned cherries, 1-2 cups sugar, 1 quart ginger ale, 2 cups iced tea, 1 banana, 1-4 cup fine cherries stoned, 1-4 cup strawberries.

Put the juice of the lemons, the oranges cut in slices, the strawberries and the cherries in a large bowl. Add sugar and crush with a wooden potato-masher. Let stand an hour or longer to draw out the juice. Press the fruit to a pulp and strain. Add the fruit juice to the tea and ginger ale. Add banana sliced, and cherries and strawberries cut in quarters. Serve in glasses with crushed ice and a sprig of mint.

The first will in the English language was the will of a chandler, who bequeathed candles to various churches.

Bridge Club Members Enjoy Hospitality Of Mrs. Smith

Offering a charming hospitality to a little group of Huntington Beach friends, Mrs. J. C. Smith presided at a pleasant bridge luncheon recently when her home at 107 East Cuyler street was rendered lovely with massed yellow gadioli arranged in decorative effect.

The guests were members of a friendly little club which meets at regular intervals to play bridge. Mrs. Smith asked them to be her luncheon guests and had three tables arranged for the serving of a most appetizing menu. Assisting her was her daughter, Mrs. Dean Collier.

Cards were introduced after the luncheon had been enjoyed and the exciting contest resulted in Mrs. Al O'Brien holding high score and being rewarded with a beautiful yellow lustre vase on a black standard.

Automotive Dealers At Colonial Club

Various cities of Southern California were represented at a directors' meeting of the Southern California Automotive Dealers' association held recently in this city at Colonial club on North Main street, where an elaborate dinner was served the members of the board.

The business meeting was presided over by George Bellus of Los Angeles, president of the association while board members present included James E. Granger, J. B. Glaze, secretary Orange County Auto Trade association, E. L. Matthews, Otto R. Haan, D. D. Andrews, H. A. Shugart and H. M. Kinslow of Santa Ana; Walter M. Bidlock and Joe Andrews, Los Angeles; J. B. Kemp, Hugh S. Teltsworth, C. R. May, E. E. Wurl, Pomona; William F. Burbank, D. McClairen, Pasadena; L. R. MacDonald, La Verne and H. A. Strong, Riverside, secretary of the Riverside Auto Trade association.

I. O. O. F.

A double installation attracted a company of approximately 450 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, representing the various lodges of district No. 50 of the Rebekahs and district No. 69, I. O. O. F. to Odd Fellows hall last Saturday evening.

The sovereign grand lodge has evolved a special ceremony by which the officers of the two lodges may be installed at the same time, the work being made most impressive. The reason for the local ceremony was the installation of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eckles as the two noble grands.

The installing officers were Mrs. Lula Nankervis, district deputy president of the Rebekahs and De Witt C. Dimmick, deputy grand master of the Odd Fellows, both of Westminster, which has the smallest lodges in the district whose membership takes a special pride in the efficiency of the work. Both the elective and the appointive officers were installed, those for Sycamore Rebekah lodge being as follows: P. N. G. Katherine McCurdy; N. G. Clarabelle Eckles; V. G. Carita Foreman; recording Secretary, Hattie Peters; Financial Secretary, Kate Clark; Treasurer, Bessie McDonald; Wardens, Stella Henderson; Conductor, Eleanor Clayton; Chaplain, Inez Baker; R. S. N. G., Bessie Stovall; L. S. N. G., Nan Ahrens; R. S. V. G., Minnie Foreman; L. S. V. G., Myrtle Huff; R. A. S., Helen Aaron; L. A. S., Edith Nelson; I. G. Clarabelle Burris; O. G., Grace Benjamin.

For Santa Ana Lodge No. 236, the officers are: P. G., H. W. McKague; N. G., Harry Eckles; V. G., William A. Maryne; Recording Secretary, George Peters; Financial Secretary, W. J. Morrison; Treasurer, Ed. F. Waite; Wardens, Clarence Henderson; Conductor, Almer Erickson; Chaplain, Charles Kellogg; R. S. N. G., Edgar Wild; L. S. N. G., Ora Somerville; R. S. V. G., Jaxie Lovell; L. S. V. G., Arthur Curtis; R. S. S. Ben Baker; L. S. S., Charles Burris; I. G., A. L. Chapman; O. G., M. J. McCurdy.

The retiring noble grand, Mrs. McCurdy presented Roger Labadie, the staff drillmaster, with a handsome gold chain, and she in turn was presented with a past noble grand's pin by Mrs. Hattie Peters. All of the retiring and incoming officers, and drill team were presented with lovely flowers, and each member of the drill staff receiving a beautiful vase filled with flowers.

In the banquet room, where strawberry ice, French pastry and coffee were served, the decorations were in pink and green, the color of the lovely, small library lamps shedding a soft glow over the scene. C. A. Palmer of Orange, grand warden of the grand lodge, was among the honor guests.

Last night the installing officers and staff were at Brea, and tomorrow night they will install officers at Fullerton.

BAN JAZZ ARTISTS

PARIS, July 15.—The daily lighted side streets of Paris are reverberating with the groans of saxophones and the wailing of violins. France will witness an exodus of many of its most popular jazz band artists in the near future. Several English and American players have been ordered to leave French territory—without explanation.

Back Bad This Summer?

ARE you tired, weak, all worn-out this summer? Do you feel old and dispirited—tortured by constant backache and knife-like pains when you stoop or lift?

Look then to your kidneys! Well kidneys keep the blood-stream pure. Weak kidneys allow poisons to accumulate and upset blood and nerves. Then comes backache, stabbing pains, headaches, dizziness, a tired, "blue" feeling and kidney irregularities.

Don't wait. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Santa Ana Proof:

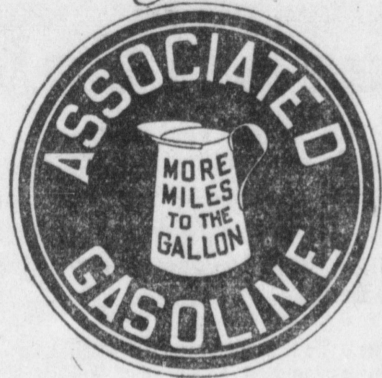

P. G. Etchison, retired merchant, 828 Garfield St. says: "For a number of months I was troubled off and on with a dull, heavy pain in the small of my back. If I stooped or remained in a bent position long, I suffered worse. Reading about Doan's Pills and believing this trouble arose from weak kidneys, I decided to try them. Doan's promptly and thoroughly cured me and I haven't been troubled since."

CITICLINICS FOR CANCER ARE URGED

NEW YORK, July 15.—"The hope and salvation of the person afflicted with cancer lies in the education of the public and the establishment of large state and municipal institutions for the care and treatment of the disease."

This statement was made by Dr. Isaac Levin, discussing the work of the New York City cancer institute, a free clinic of which he is general director.

"Cancer institutes by their mere existence will serve to educate the people and install into them a confidence in the scientific methods of treatment," Dr. Levin said. "The aim of the institute is to take care of the poor of the city, and no charge whatever is made for treatment."

"Walking patients are examined, classified and given treatment which does not require the patient to stay in the hospital. Those that require hospital care are sent to the hospital division of the Cancer Institute, on Welfare Island, where 1500 beds have been provided for cancer patients."

"The institute is so organized that it is able to take care of 200, and more, cancer patients at the same time. Its facilities include complete equipment for diagnosis, the most modern high-voltage X-ray machines and radium emanation laboratories. Several hundred physicians and surgeons connected with the hospitals of the department of public welfare, all specialists, aid the work with their knowledge and experience."

Erroneous Conception
Dr. Levin said that the greatest problem confronting him and others of his colleagues working on the cure of cancer was the erroneous conception of the disease on the part of the general public.

"Cancer is not necessarily a fatal disease. People imagine that it is, because they never bring it to the attention of a physician until it is a well-developed case. There is little doubt that cancer in the early stages is curable. Indeed, results obtained in the treatment of early cancer in the last quarter of a century are astounding. Statistics show that 50 per cent of cancers of the uterus, 70 per cent of cancers of the breast and 80 per cent of cancers of the lip are cured in the early stages of the disease. It is remarkable that, notwithstanding all this progress obtained by modern methods in the treatment of cancer, the general public still insists in considering cancer a hopeless condition. One reason for this may be founded in the fact that a person who recovers from cancer usually conceals the fact, while death from cancer is usually well advertised."

Treatment Explained
Talking of the actual methods of cancer treatment, Dr. Levin gave a brief summary of surgery, radium and X-ray as they are used on cancer patients.

"Surgery, radium and X-ray," he said, "have all been developed to their highest point of efficiency within the last quarter of a century. Surgery is the oldest and possibly the most important single method of treatment. But all three methods have their special importance and use. Best results are undoubtedly obtained in the majority of cases by judicious co-ordination of all three methods at the same time. However, each cancer patient presents a separate complex problem and is usually in need of general medical and surgical care, besides the specific cancer treatment."

Dr. Levin also had a word of condemnation for the quackery that is practiced in the cure of cancer no less than in the cure of other human ailments.

BEAUTY, 23, AFTER HUBBY, GETS OFFER

NEW YORK, July 15.—Alyce McCormick, the most beautiful girl in Nebraska, whose brief career as an art fashion model in New York is over, sat down to an elaborate dinner in the Chinese room of Madison Square Garden, as the guest of honor of Charles V. Miller, millionaire art dealer who wishes to make Alyce his bride.

Alyce, beautiful of face and figure, whose resplendent appearance dazzled the eyes of blase Broadway, made it known upon arrival here recently that she had come to win a husband, provided he met all stipulations, including membership in Masonry. Suitors to the 23-year-old Nebraska beauty were as thick as bees around blossoms. One of these was Miller, who is in his fifties.

Miller has a house in Paris, a home and art store here and friends of wealth and social prominence. To these he introduced Alyce at an elaborately set banquet.

Alyce has not indicated whether she will become Mrs. Miller.

Lady Astor Calls 'Good Old Days' Talk Nonsense

LONDON, July 15.—It's nonsense to talk about the 'good old days,' Lady Astor says. "There is a lot of nonsense talked about the good old days," to know who was having a good time in those days. Old 'rut-an-kid' good time, but I am convinced the people who were giving him a good time were not correspondingly well off.

"The masses want a better world, and they will get it through ordinary methods if they can, but if you set people who say: 'I am out for myself and the devil take the hindmost,' the devil will take them."

Viennese Seeking Suicide to Flee High Living Cost

VIENNA, July 15.—A new wrinkle in suicides was demonstrated recently in Vienna. Tired of trying to eke out a hand-to-mouth existence in a city where the cost of living is already high and becoming higher, a young woman and her sweetheart rode together on their bicycles over a steep bank into the Danube. The tragedy was witnessed by some fishermen who were at work nearby; but rescue was impossible as the suicides were already far down stream before the fishermen could reach the spot. It is more or less of a red-letter day on the calendar when a suicide is not recorded in the local press. Hope of better days individually and as a nation seems to have left the majority of Austria's population. One by one therefore they resort to poison, the Danube, gas, pistols, and ropes for release from their troubles.

VISITOR DRAWN BY S. A. LURE WILL BUILD

Returning this week from their old home at Bagley, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Covey today were at Santa Ana Heights discussing plans for the new residence they are to erect on their acre tract there.

In the general merchandise business at Bagley for twenty-four years, Covey has quit his old haunts and has moved here, heart, baggage and all.

Mr. and Mrs. Covey have been coming here off and on for several years, visiting their niece, Mrs. E. J. Foster, 213½ Bush street, and finally fell victims to the lure of this section.

"I have fallen strong and I will grant no one the right to say that he today is a better booster than I for Santa Ana and vicinity in particular and California as a whole," said the former Bagley merchant.

Covey went back to Bagley last April to close up some of his business affairs. He sold his general merchandise store but retained his interest in two other stores and in several farms.

Prior to departure for Santa Ana this time, Mr. and Mrs. Covey were given a farewell by their old friends and neighbors of many years standing. During the farewell reception some friend showed the following into the hands of Mr. Covey as a farewell message that he could keep as a memento of the occasion:

Carry Dad Covey to far California
There where the poppies and the orange blossoms grow;
There where the movie stars shine sweet in the spring-time
There where Dad Covey's heart is longing now to go.
There where he lingers all day on the seashore.
Day after day in the green parks all alone,
No place on earth does he love more sincerely
Than California where he goes to make his home.
Carry him back to far California
There where the poppies and the orange blossoms grow,
There where the movie stars sing sweet in the spring-time,
There where Dad Covey's heart is now longing to go.

SOPRANO GIVEN FEATURE ROLE FOR CONCERT

Marie Bishop, dramatic soprano, will be featured at the second open air concert of Santa Ana's Municipal band which will be given to-day at 7:30 p. m. at Birch park. It will be "Clubs Night."

"Life," by Curran, and "Threes," by Rasbach have been selected by the soloists for tonight's concert. She will be accompanied by Ione Tunison Peck.

Prof. D. C. Cianfoni, director of the municipal band, has written a march, "The Lions" and has dedicated it to the Santa Ana Lions club, which, with other clubs, expected to attend tonight's concert in full force.

A varied program has been arranged by Prof. Cianfoni so that lovers of all kinds of music will be satisfied. So-called heavy and classical music will be interspersed with light opera and some of the old favorites.

An American fantasia, "Gem of Stephen Foster," by Tobani, will close the program.

FRENCHMAN AT EL TORO HAS BARBECUE

EL TORO, July 15.—Yesterday friends of A. C. Carle spent a joyous day at the ranch. A big crowd was served at noon with a barbecue dinner. Mr. Carle entertains his friends each year in such a manner, in celebration of the French holiday, July 14, which commemorates the Fall of the Bastille.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Whisler had business in Santa Ana Monday. Mrs. C. E. Scott has returned to her home in El Toro.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robertson motored to Santa Ana Sunday, returning late that evening.

CAMPAIGN FOR MEXICAN HEAD UNDER WAY

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—There is every indication that the presidential election in Mexico the first Sunday in July will be an orderly one, in spite of an undercurrent of rumors to the contrary.

The candidates are Plutarco Elias Calles and Angel Flores.

The first one is of that celebrated triumvirate that came up from Sonora to dominate Mexico and restore a government which the United States recognized. President Obregon was the chief, de la Huerta and Calles the lieutenants.

Together they worked until recently, when de la Huerta severed his friendship, started a revolution against the Obregon government and finally sought safety in the United States. While President Obregon is a neutral and promises a fair election, Calles quite naturally falls heir to such a following as has been built up about the Sonora group.

Flores Mostly Indian.

Flores is the present governor of the state of Sinaloa. He is almost pure Indian, well educated, and extremely popular. He is of the people—a laborer, carpenter, or bearer of burdens, and then later, as a young man, a longshoreman. But he developed extremely conservative tendencies, while his opponent leans far in the other direction.

Each, however, has publicly proclaimed that in the event of his election all international obligations will be respected and no foreign interest need have any concern.

Both declare that capital will be invited into the country and given every encouragement. Calles has announced many radical policies; but, he says, that these concern internal matters only.

The campaign is an interesting one. Although there have been persistent reports that the government favors Calles and will assist his candidacy, Flores has established his headquarters in Mexico City and frequently is seen walking or driving about the streets. He conducts what would be a "front porch" campaign in the states.

Calles Touring Country.

What the outcome will be no one well informed can say. But all agree that the voting will be free of practices which have characterized previous elections in Latin America. Such influence as ordinarily would be brought to bear would originate in Mexico City. To guard against any implication of this kind, President Obregon has just retired to his home in Sonora, two days' journey, to leave the political field open to the two candidates.

WAR ON LIGHTS IRKS AUTOIST. NOT OFFICER

"It's too bad about some of these Pasadena boys," today remarked Henry S. Warner, captain of the state traffic police stationed here, when shown a clipping from a Pasadena newspaper in which Ray B. Marsh complained indignantly about being detained by the "Santa Ana police" for half an hour during a headlight "crusade."

"Sure we stopped him, if he says so," said Warner. "We stopped several hundred Friday night."

"The humorous part of it all is that the state police have been doing it all over California this month and nothing is heard about it until some one is stopped at Santa Ana, then a hue and cry goes up. You can tell this Marsh fellow and anyone else in Pasadena, Los Angeles, or anywhere that it's not the Santa Ana police, but the state police that are doing the stopping. We get police aid, however."

Warner exhibited an order from state headquarters ordering him to enforce the state headlight law. As a result, he said, all motorists are stopped on certain nights. A screen is placed on the road and all headlights are tested. Lights not legally adjusted bring their owners a warning.

The Pasadena newspaper quotes Marsh as saying "head officer was armed with a gun and failed to stop meant serious results. The affair worked a great inconvenience upon Pasadena travelers."

"Too bad," Warner repeated. "However, I didn't leave any corpses lying around on the streets and I don't remember calling an ambulance. But isn't it too bad that Pasadena had to be inconvenienced?"

A motion picture on phases of the American rice industry, "Rice from Paddy to Bowl," has just been released by the United States department of agriculture. This film, one of the department's series of educational pictures, shows methods of harvesting and handling rice that tend to improve the quality of the product and enhance its market value.

Many people living in the northern part of the United States believe that all the rice sold at the local grocery store is grown in China or elsewhere in the Orient. On the contrary, as this film shows, the United States in 1923, for example, produced over 22,200,000 bushels of rough rice, enough not only to supply all the demands for rice in this country, but also a considerable additional amount for export to other countries.

ELECTRIC RATE BOOST PROBE NEARS END

Hearing by the state railroad commission of protests against the Southern California Edison company's proposed rate increase, as made by twenty-six cities including Santa Ana, was expected to be completed today, when the case would be submitted to the commission for its consideration. An increase of approximately 20 per cent for nine months is sought by the Edison company.

W. J. Carr, an attorney who said he was representing twenty-six Southern California cities was out on the stand it was learned here, when the hearings were resumed in Los Angeles. He declared the company had been "liberally treated" in the matter of rates in the past. The shortage of power was causing great loss to the consumers, he maintained, and said these should not be asked to shoulder any of the company's loss in addition to their own burden.

Figures produced by S. K. Decker of the Los Angeles city power bureau tended to show that the company's deficit for the year might reach $3,703,156, but that in the seven year period from 1920 to 1926, inclusive, the surplus over a fair return would be $1,014,551. The company's estimate of the deficit for 1924 is $4,591,156.

Daylight Saving Is Up at Oxnard

OXNARD, July 15.—Business men and ranchers of this section will meet here tomorrow night to discuss daylight saving, with a possibility the scheme will be agreed upon as a means of aiding in the present power emergency.

Ranchers are generally opposed to the idea while business men favor it. The city trustees have gone on record approving daylight saving if adopted as a statewide measure.

Guard Mortally Wounds Convict

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., July 15.—V. B. Padula, sentenced to serve 14 years in San Quentin for the attempted murder of George W. Nickel in Merced county in 1922, died last night from wounds inflicted by a guard.

Padula was attacking Homer G. Breakfield, another guard, with an iron bar when A. H. Leman, from his position on the wall, saw his comrade's danger and shot Padula through the right lung.

The commission they were unable to pay any increase due to their losses brought about by the drought and the hoof and mouth disease.

F. H. Lechlitter, assistant executive engineer for the company, said slight additional power had been obtained, but that it would only make up for power expected from the Southern Sierras Power company which has not been forthcoming this year.

MYSTERY VEILS REVOLUTION IN BRAZIL

(By United Press Leased Wire) RIO DE JANEIRO, July 15.—Important events were believed transpiring today behind the strict military censorship which prevents communication with the scene of the rebellion in the State of Sao Paulo.

Heavy federal reinforcements which entrained by both land and sea for the battle front yesterday were reported taking up their positions this morning and the government forces apparently for the first time were nearing a basis of equality in man power with the rebels.

The federal forces, according to unofficial reports, now number upward of 40,000 men with full equipment.

Troops have been concentrated from all parts, including the famous Gaucha cavalry units from the cattle country of Southern Brazil.

It now appears that the rebellion is purely of a military character and has been brewing for months. It had its inception with the revolt in Rio two years ago when students of the military college and garrisons of three outlying forts rebelled against the government because of the action of the then president, Dr. Epitacio Pessoa, in severely reprimanding Marshal Hermes Da Fonseca, president of the Military club and an ex-president of the republic.

Fonseca later was imprisoned a day because of his refusal to abstain from political activity. The rebellion started by his followers was crushed mercilessly and a majority of the revolting soldiers were annihilated.

The federal government at that time laid down the principle that the army must keep entirely clear of politics, causing considerable friction with the military classes.

This friction, it seems, spread to Sao Paulo and a group of ambitious officers took advantage of popular dissatisfaction at the financial situation to incite the rebellion.

MYSTERY GUN BIG DEATH QUIZ FACTOR

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, July 15.—That the .32-caliber "mystery gun" in the slaying of Mrs. Therese Dorris and Henry D. Meyer at Long Beach two weeks ago, was the property of Mrs. Dorris, is the testimony which E. J. Maier, a new witness, was to give before the county grand jury when it reopened its investigation of the case today.

According to Detective Mozley of Long Beach, Maier said he was employed temporarily at the El Leonor apartments, Long Beach, several months ago by Charles W. Dorris, accused of the death of his wife and business partner. Maier declared that he saw Mrs. Dorris one day place the gun in a dresser drawer.

Captain J. D. Hunter of the district attorney's homicide squad, and Captain Worley of Long Beach, were to arrive today in San Francisco, where they hope to trace the number of the .32-cal-

NEWPORT WOULD FETE BOOST MEN

Whether Newport Beach will be host to the August meeting of the Commercial Secretaries Association of Southern California depends on the decision of the president and secretary of that organization, J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce is president of the secretaries' association.

At the monthly meeting of the association, held yesterday in Hollywood, Metzgar and the secretary of the association were designated as a committee to select the next meeting place. Newport Beach is making an effort to land the meeting.

The Hollywood meeting was attended by 150 delegates representing ninety chambers of commerce.

L. A. HEARS ROAR OF FORT'S RIFLES

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN PEDRO, July 15.—The roar of fourteen-inch disappearing coast defense rifles was heard in Los Angeles when the two hundred and fifteenth coast artillery, California National Guard, encamped at Fort MacArthur, fired the big guns during annual practice today.

Major David P. Hardy was in charge of today's practice, with batteries firing at a range of 11,000 yards. The twelve-inch mortars of batteries Saxton and Barlow will be fired tomorrow, and the fourteen-inch gun of Battery Meramen and all incomplete schedules will be run off Thursday and Friday, it was announced.

The camp of 800 men will be broken at noon Saturday, and the various battalions of the regiment will disperse to San Diego, San Francisco, Long Beach, and San Pedro, according to Capt. Albert T. Emerson, camp adjutant.

PRAISES FISHERIES ON KLAMATH RIVER

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—In 1923 the total output of the 29 hatcheries and egg-collecting stations of California amounted to forty-eight millions of fish. Twenty millions of these young fish were king salmon hatched from salmon eggs secured at the Klamath River Collecting Station near Hornbrook, Siskiyou county. It is now impossible to secure eggs in sufficient numbers on the Sacramento river in that the run of salmon has been greatly depleted, due to dams and pollution. The United States bureau of fisheries has been unable to secure the usual supply of eggs at its station on the McCloud river at Baird. More and more it is becoming a serious problem to secure sufficient salmon eggs for use in the state's hatcheries.

Fortunately, after the supply failed in the Sacramento there was one other stream where a dependable supply could be secured. That was the Klamath river. However, the egg-collecting operations are threatened because of the proposed building of a 250-foot dam 80 miles from the mouth of the river. Such a dam would effectively block all migrating salmon and would cause the abandonment of the egg-collecting operations and, in fact, the abandonment of the salmon-hatching program, for nowhere else can the eggs be secured in sufficient quantity.

Canal Yields Up Foot of Women

RIVERSIDE, July 15.—Discovery of a woman's foot floating in the Riverside Water company's canal, today started local police on a search for possible explanations of the mystery.

The foot was found by a Mexican boy, who rushed to the police station with the news. The foot had already begun to decompose, and offered no clues other than the sex of the person to whom it belonged.

The canal originates near San Bernardino and parallels the railroad track in several places. Police believe the foot may be that of someone struck by a train. If this theory is not substantiated, the case may prove to be a gruesome murder mystery.

PASTOR BRANDING LAID TO FANATIC

(By United Press Leased Wire) BIRKENHEAD, Mich., July 15.—While the Rev. Oren Van Loon, bearing the brand, "K. K. K." on his back, sought to regain his strength and memory today, villagers and authorities puzzled over theories that might explain the drugging and kidnapping of the Community church pastor.

Van Loon, weak and exhausted, arrived here yesterday from Battle Creek with his wife and a nephew. He had been in a hospital there since he collapsed on the street Friday.

The general view here is that Klansmen had nothing to do with the attack. Some fanatic or some secret enemy might have sought to cloak his vengeance by burning the three K's into the minister's flesh, it was believed.

'MASSES' DECLARED BEST ART LOVERS

CAMP CURRY, Yosemite, July 10.—The reaction of the public to the Yosemite valley and its unequalled scenic beauty proves that appreciation of art and things artistic is more uniformly distributed among the masses than is intelligence, according to Dr. Joseph Valentine Breitweiser of the University of California education department, who has been a guest at Camp Curry during the past week. Dr. Breitweiser last evening delivered the final address of the 1924 course of LeConte Memorial lectures, a course given annually under the auspices of the University of California extension department.

Another point stressed by Dr. Breitweiser in his final talk, which was on the subject of "Art Appreciation in Modern Life," was the high standard of art in modern advertising. California is one of the leading centers of advertising and printing art in the world, he stated.

"The skyscrapers of the United States will in type surpass the ancient cathedrals in architectural beauty," prophesied Dr. Breitweiser. "American-made automobiles, locomotives and other types of mechanical engines and devices far surpass European-made products in beauty of design."

In an earlier lecture on "Economy of Time and Mental Energy" this speaker stated that the greatest loss of personal efficiency is in the home.

WORLD FLYERS ARE HONORED IN PARIS

PARIS, July 15.—"We'll be in Los Angeles long before September 1," Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the American world flight, said today in an interview as he and his birdmen companions stretched their legs around for one of the busiest days of rest on record.

The aviators went to a reception in their honor, attended by Minister of Aviation Eynac, they met and hobbled for a while with their chief, General Pershing, they placed a wreath upon the tomb of the unknown soldier and they wrote their names in the famous "Book of Gold" at the Hotel de Ville.

All the time it was plain to see their thoughts were on the flight.

"We are nineteen days behind schedule," Lieut. Smith said, speculatively.

"Of course," he added, quickly, "we are not racing against time, but just to show the world that the world can be flown."

"And we've almost done it."

The modest, soft-spoken American commander said that he and his companions were looking forward to two weeks of real rest in London while their planes are fitted with pontoons for the Atlantic trip. Then there will be no halting until they reach the Pacific coast of the United States.

Paris continued to shower honors upon the airmen.

TOKIO, Japan, July 15.—Major Stuart MacLaren, British "round the world flyer," is fogbound at Toshimoye, island of Yezo, Japan. He arrived at Toshimoye from Kuchiru at 4 p. m. yesterday, according to advices received here.

260 Tons Babies Born in 1 Year

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 15.—California parents deal in babies by the ton, according to L. E. Ross, director of the state bureau of vital statistics.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, more than 260 tons of babies were divided among California homes, and this next year the live weight is expected to exceed 300 tons.

Dr. Ross reported that if the 80,227 babies born last year were placed head to foot, they would form a line of howling humanity 25 miles long.

MEDAL FOR DOGS. SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—Rambler and Joe, two bloodhounds that trailed a murderer to his death near Tacoma recently, have been awarded a gold medal for their efforts. The medal, bearing the names of the two dogs and the inscription, "For Faithful Service," was given to Sheriff Matt Starwich, their owner, by Tacoma authorities.

TEACH HOME SCIENCE. BERLIN, July 15.—Every day has been county fair day on Leipziger street recently. Downtown shops are converting their show windows into expositions of what they call "Warenkunde," or domestic science. The exhibits show how household goods and wearing apparel are manufactured and the difference between good and bad grades of manufacture.

NO PREFERENCE GIVEN TEACHER WITH HAIR OF REDDISH HUE

Education Board Members Consider 'Gray Matter' First, They Explain

LOCKS NOT CONSIDERED

Offer to Supply State If Titian-Heads Wanted to Be Rejected Here

The color of a woman's hair has nothing to do with her ability as a school teacher.

At least the men who employ Santa Ana's corps of efficient pedagogues say it doesn't.

"But if the applicant's crowning glory is quite red?" several members of the city board of education were asked today, "isn't it true she would get a little preference? Don't you consider the red-heads a bit more proficient?"

The members were agreed; when the time came for selecting teachers the color of the hair played no part.

The members also disagreed, but this time with John R. Conniff, head of the Louisiana state department of education, who made a statement recently that red-haired school teachers were superior to blondes or brunettes, and who, in a letter to California school authorities, offered to supply all the red-haired school teachers the state might want.

Look For Gray Matter.

One member of the board went so far as to say: "I don't care whether she has red, pink or blue hair, just so she has a little gray matter, underneath the hair."

Marshall Keeler, a member of the board, was non-plussed when asked his opinion of a school teacher with auburn tresses.

"Well, you've got me this time," he said. He whispered something to the reporter that the newspaper man said he wouldn't tell. "I have never met a red-haired school teacher that did not have a good disposition," Keeler continued, "and this old thought that red-haired women have quick tempers is all bunk. They are always unusually bright, and are good disciplinarians, and the ones that we have in schools here are high-grade teachers. Keeler stated that although he favored red-haired teachers, that he would show no preference on this account, as he was not a believer in the theory that the color of the hair or the

FILMS CALL BUT GIRL HELD PRETTIEST IN WYOMING NOT SURE SHE CARES FOR TRIAL

CASPER, Wyo., July 15.—It's a long and rocky road from Wyoming's cow trails to Hollywood's studios.

But Elizabeth Baker, 16-year-old Casper high school girl, can make the journey whenever she wishes.

Hearing she was pronounced the most beautiful girl in Wyoming, three large motion picture companies have offered her screen tests with contracts later if she makes good.

But Elizabeth isn't so sure that she wants to go into the movies. She hasn't accepted any of the offers yet and says she may not at all.

She wants to go to college after finishing her high school course. "Anyway," she says, "I might find hundreds of prettier and more talented girls at Hollywood if I did go."

Harts' Troubles Set for Airing

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—The screen must wait for some months to come before it is again graced by the fair face of Winifred Westover Hart, wife of William S. Hart, "two-gun man" of the films.

In an agreement on file today, the case in which Mrs. Hart seeks to break an agreement between herself and her estranged husband which keeps her out of pictures, is set for trial January 8, 1925.

Mrs. Hart claims the income from the $200,000 or more set aside by her husband as a trust fund for herself and child is not sufficient to live on.

MADE-IN-S. A. INK WELL PUT ON DISPLAY

Local Man Is Inventor and Firm Here Manufacturers Novelty Product

A new inkwell, invented and manufactured in Santa Ana, was being exhibited today by the Rev. H. Eummelen, rector of St. Joseph's Catholic church, the inventor, and by Charles Kaufmann and Sons, the manufacturer.

This inkwell, it is confidently stated by those who are interested in it, will add a share to the industrial life of Santa Ana. If the sale for it is found that is expected, dozens of the inkwells will be manufactured daily at the Kaufmann plant at 1623 East First street.

Beside his clerical interests, the Rev. Mr. Eummelen has long been interested in inventions. Among the articles produced by him is a contrivance for the watering and feeding of birds. Through it, water from an inverted receptacle reaches the drinking bowl only as it is needed.

Uses Same Principle. This same principle has been adapted to the inkwell. In fact, the same receptacle is used for holding ink that in the bird fountain is used for holding water. This receptacle is of glass, and itself is manufactured in a Santa Ana industrial plant, it being made by the Brock glass works.

The ink receptacle and the bowl in which the pen is dipped are mounted upon a substantial metal base, manufactured by the Kaufmann plant. This plant manufactures spotlights, metal vases and metal candlesticks, and does not have to add anything to its equipment in order to make the inkwell.

The base includes a curved space for holding pens and pencils. Altogether, the appearance of the article is neat and attractive, and it is believed that by proper sales methods an extensive sale throughout the country for the inkwell can be secured. Carl Kaufmann of the Kaufmann plant believes that the inkwell will make an unusually fine utility gift for Christmas.

Cannot Spill Ink. The inkwell has an appeal not only because of its appearance but because ink cannot be spilled out of it. It can be filled in two different ways, and can be cleaned with ease. These are points that make the local man believe that the article will bring a good deal of money to Santa Ana.

The plant is just finishing the first lot of fifty inkwells for the purpose of gathering data upon the cost of production. The article has not yet been offered to the trade.

C. OF C. CHOICE OF SECRETARY MADE KNOWN

Middle-West Man Knowing S. A. Problems Voted By Committee

A successor to James C. Metzgar as secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will be recommended to the board of directors at its weekly meeting at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Frank L. Purinton, who heads the committee named by the board to recommend a new secretary to take office August 1, declared today that his committee had decided on one out of forty applicants and that his name would be submitted to the board tomorrow with the recommendation that he be employed as secretary.

Former Chamber Head.

While Purinton declined to give out the name of the board applicant, the committee will tell the directors that he is a man of established qualifications and that he served as secretary of several large Chambers and automobile clubs in the Middle West. He is not a stranger to California, however, Purinton added, the applicant having been located in this state several months and is familiar with Santa Ana's problems and needs.

C. C. Cotant and R. L. Brown served on the committee with Purinton.

"Applications were received from persons in all parts of the nation," Purinton said. "Of the forty, all but fifteen were eliminated and these fifteen of the committee interviewed personally every one of these fifteen. It was only after thorough investigation that the man chosen was decided on."

Would Increase Board.

Shortly after a new secretary takes office the membership of the board of directors will be increased to fifteen, Purinton predicted. The new secretary will be an ex-officio member of the board. No action on increasing the size of the board, however, would be taken, it was said, until M. B. Wellington, attorney for the Chamber, returns to the city. The petitions circulated among the members sanctioning an amendment to increase the board membership from eleven to fifteen still require a few more signatures. Upon Wellington's return it was expected he would be authorized to apply to the secretary of state for permission to make the proposed change in the constitution.

GROUP ENTERTAINMENT FINANCING TOPIC. Details of plans for a series of approximately ten entertainments to be given by the Orange County Choral Union, Santa Ana Municipal Band, Community Players and the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra was expected to be outlined to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, at their meeting tomorrow afternoon, by R. R. Shafer, chairman of a special chamber committee.

Tentative plans were agreed upon at a meeting last week of the committee, recently appointed by the Chamber of Commerce and representatives of the various organizations interested.

A series of ten entertainments throughout the winter months will be given if present plans are followed. It is estimated that $10,000 would be necessary to stage these entertainments.

A program by which season tickets for all the organizations could be sold in one campaign was left to the committee headed by Shafer and his report was to be made to the Chamber of Commerce directors Wednesday.

40 AND 8 MEN OF 3 COUNTIES DUE. Plans are being made today for a tri-county promenade of members from Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties of the Societe des 40 hommes et 8 Chevaux, to be held at the American Legion home here on the night of July 23, according to Joe Plank, secretary of the local volunteer.

The purpose of the tri-county meeting, Plank said, is to organize this part of the state for the coming state convention to be held in Santa Cruz in August, and to initiate a large number of "goofs" who have made application for membership during the past several weeks.

Judge J. R. Cavanaugh and H. C. Weiffles, each chief de gare respectively of the San Bernardino and Riverside county volunteers, are expected to bring large delegations to Santa Ana. More than a hundred members are expected to be present for the celebration, which will include a parade through the principal streets of the city by the "goofs." Z. B. West Jr., is chief de gare for the local volunteer.

NICHOLAS, ONCE COMMANDER RUSSIAN ARMIES, HOPES TO RESTORE ROMANOFF POWER

SENTENY, SERVON, France, July 15.—Back in the early years of the World War, Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch commanded the czar's great armies. He owned palaces and estates all over Russia. Before he took the field with his troops, he lived the life of a royal prince and wealthy nobleman.

But today he is a simple country gentleman in the little Chateau of Choigny, on the outskirts of this humble hamlet where for centuries time has stood still.

His command once numbering millions, is reduced now to 20 faithful Cossacks. His household does not exceed 8 or 10 persons. And his table is the plainest.

Popular in Village. It sounds like a tragic tale—and in part it is. But the man who, due to the machinations of the last of the czars, was deprived of his title of generalissimo of the Russian armies and sent into practical exile in the Caucasus; the man who virtually was a prisoner of the Bolsheviks before he managed to escape to Italy, is abiding his hour.

Although 68, he still is vigorous, straight as the Russian pine, well over six feet tall, and but a little grayer than in his campaigns of 1914-16.

He and his friends are confident that soon the call for service will come. Meanwhile, he lives in an isolation one would think impossible in a place only an hour by train from Paris.

Trains Stop Daily. Two or three trains a day stop at the station called Santeny-Servon. The village itself is a mile and a half away. Here you find some 200 souls, most of whom are employed as farm hands in the surrounding wheat country of Brie.

Although this country voted heavily for the parties of the Left Wing in the recent elections, the grand duke is popular with the peasantry.

They call Nicholas' rented estate the Chateau of Choigny—but it isn't a castle. It is more like a French country residence—a low rambling two-story white structure, with geranium beds around it and bordered in horse chestnuts, locusts and other trees flowering at this time of the year.

Cossacks Guard Him. The grounds are enclosed by tall fences. The big barred iron gates are kept locked. France has many communists and Bolsheviks who might harm the greatest of the living Romanoffs.

That is why at night the 20 Cossacks are on guard. That is why a half dozen police dogs are let loose on the grounds. That is why by day the French government has sent down there to do duty at the porter's lodge a special agent of the French Surete Generale.

In spite of the fact that many of the surviving Romanoffs now long ago chose Grand Duke Cyril—now living at Nice—as protector of the rights to the old throne, thousands of loyal Russians in the world over look upon Nicholas as the man who ultimately will deliver Russia from the soviets.

Shuns Paris. Nicholas wanders about his grounds in the ordinary clothes worn by Frenchmen of the leisure class. He never goes to Paris. Considerable part of his time is spent in writing a history of the first part of the great war. Long years ago he wrote a history of Russia under one of the great czars. So by writing now he simply is returning to one of his early loves.

Most of his guests are Russians who escaped the Soviet Cheka and who have information to place at his disposal.

It is significant that most of the able Russians come to Santeny to report to him, instead of going to Nice to report to Cyril.

'Badge Bandit' To Waive Extradition. LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Harry J. Dunlap, "badge bandit" and ascertained murderer, is expected to waive extradition and return here with Sheriff Traeger and Chief Criminal Deputy Wright, who were to arrive in Detroit today to bring Dunlap back for trial.

Dunlap's action was indicated in a telegram received here by Attorney S. S. Hahn, who advised him to surrender and employ Attorney Le Compté Davis to defend him, since Hahn was leaving for Honolulu.

FOREST BLAZE 'MINUTE MEN' MUSTERED AS PRECAUTION MEASURE

Emergency Fighting Unit Held Needed If Fires To Be Combated

DANGERS OUTLINED

Plan to Have at Least 50 Prepared For Action Within An Hour

Should the brush-covered ranges of Orange county's back country, stripped of its foliage by weeks of beating sunshine, be transformed suddenly into a raging furnace field by some careless camper and a fanning breeze, Santa Ana's "minute men" will be at the scene to protect life and property within a few hours, if plans, on foot here today, materialize.

A call for these volunteer firefighters, who would be available on a moment's notice to go into the hills as campfires in the United States government, was made here today by Victor Walker, local sporting goods dealer. The "minute men" were asked to leave their names and addresses at the Walker store, 205 West Fourth street, or in the editorial rooms of The Register.

In more than twenty years the vast canyons and hilly ranges in Orange county have never been so susceptible to dangerous conflagrations as now, according to Walker. W. E. Adkinson, county game warden and others who are acquainted with the situation.

Apparatus Ready. These men declared today that unless combating preparations are made at once, these fires, which are virtually certain to break out before the rainy season sets in next winter, will result in the devastation of a large area of valuable property.

Fire-fighting equipment, including shovels, axes, canteens, lanterns and cooking utensils, all the property of the government, are kept at Walker's store.

In past years whenever range fires have been reported here, valuable time has been lost, it was stated, in the conscription of fire fighters. These men were picked up at various places in the county, it was said, and before they were at the scene the fire often gained a foothold.

"Our plan," Walker said, "will be to take the names and addresses of boys and young men who may be reached by telephone and who will be ready to report for duty immediately after they are informed of the blaze. Within an hour, in this way, we would have a band of at least fifty persons en route to the hills, fully equipped to fight fire."

Greenstuffs Gone. "Experience in recent years proved that many of our best volunteers were high school boys. We shall be glad to take their names and give them a call in case of the emergency."

"The canyons of Orange county, particularly in the Trabuco, are devoid of any greenstuffs that would tend to hold back the fires once started. Conditions never have been worse than they are this season. We had no late rains to beat down the grass which springs up after the early storms. This grass is standing now and will spread like wildfire once ignited."

Since January 1, according to a recent survey, more than 35,000 square miles of California mountain land have been burned over.

Willard Smith, Orange orchardist, it was learned here, has been appointed a member of the executive committee of the state citizens' committee, organized by the California Development association to assist the state and federal forces on the fire situation.

OFFICIAL STAFF OF COUNTY TO GIVE PICNIC

The county's official family today was reading invitations to its own annual frolic, the sixth yearly picnic of the Orange County Officers and Employees' association being announced for Saturday afternoon, July 26, at the county park.

Miss Justine Whitney, county recorder and secretary of the association, mailed invitations and an outline of entertainment promised.

Beginning at 3 o'clock, games and pranks will occupy the time until 5:30 p. m. when Supervisor George Jeffrey, making his debut as barbeque expert, will summon one and all to the feasting. Jeffrey and his aides, it was reported, have planned something enticing in the way of a Spanish barbeque.

An evening of dancing will follow the barbeque.

S. A. CYCLISTS WIN L. A. RACE POINTS

Chester Dysart, who competed in the senior class in Southland bicycle races at Los Angeles Sunday, today was exhibiting a trophy awarded him because he was the highest point winner of all Santa Ana entrants.

Points were awarded in competition only with other local riders, according to Henry Beisser, who accompanied the lads. Thus, he explained, though many towns were represented in the races, a Santa Ana youth in fourth place may have led all other Santa Ana racers and he would receive first honors for this city.

Dysart made 19 points; Everett Manfull, 18; Parker Adams, 8; Edward Adams, 9, and Harold Smith, 7.

Manfull, however, led the field in the half-mile and mile races in the junior class, and Parker Adams secured similar honors in the mile time race. Dysart took a second in the one-eighth mile race. All the boys will enter in the state competition at Fresno, to be held during August.

TOT. 4. BARRED BY LAW. OFF FOR IRELAND

NEW YORK, July 15.—Four-month-old Johnny O'Farrell knows nothing about law, but the law takes cognizance of Johnny, which accounts for the fact that the youngster was aboard the Adriatic on the high seas, bound for Ireland, his native land.

Johnny quite foolishly blundered trying to come into the United States to join his father, a mechanic in New York, but he reckoned without the immigration authorities and the exhausted June quota.

So he was held up at Ellis island and told he must go back to Erin. His mother, rather than waste money fighting the matter in Washington, went back with him, and will try again to get him into this country in six weeks with the new Irish quota to be admitted. Johnny's father and many friends of the family were at the pier to see him off, and were quite indignant at the whole thing. The father has his first naturalization papers and is going to become a citizen as soon as possible. Johnny was born abroad while his mother was visiting relatives.

BELIEVE QUEST FOR 'GORILLAS' IN VAIN

(By United Press Leased Wire) KESQ, Wash., July 15.—Although a party of four men under C. A. Parker, of the forestry service, left early Monday to hunt down and either kill or photograph the gorillas or "mountain devils" of Spirit lake, the belief here is that their quest will be unsuccessful and numerous other expeditions that were planned have been abandoned.

It was learned today that Marion and Roy Smith and three companions are all spiritualists and that while they are on their prospecting trips into the hills they frequently hold seances.

The Smiths and Fred Beck, another member of the prospecting party, are the men who reported an encounter with the ape-like creatures. Marion Smith claimed to have fired two shots at one of the beasts and Roy Smith declared that he had been chased to the cabin from a nearby spring where he was drawing water.

It is thought that while the Smiths and Beck were emotionally wrought up by a seance they had mistaken an upright bear for one of the "mountain devils" with which Indian lore and legend peopled the slopes of Mount St. Helens.

ARRANGES EXHIBIT OF 14,000 TONS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Collecting and arranging an exhibition weighing 14,000 tons, with the necessity of making every pound contain 16 interesting ounces, is quite a job, but Ernest Henry Fuller, who organized the Australian exhibition at the British Empire's exposition in England did it.

Fuller was in San Francisco recently on his way back home to get a rest and forget exhibitions for awhile.

The Antipodal collection comprised articles of commerce, agriculture, livestock raising and examples of life generally, and it took two years to get together and set up, according to Fuller, who is minister of labor and industry in the state government of New South Wales. It was the only exhibit to open on the date when it was announced it would open, Fuller reported.

Models of the Antipodes, made of plaster of Paris, appetizing displays of butter, cheese, jams, flour and bake shop goods cooked from Australian grain milled right in the building, diagrams of the wool industry with model shearing sheds containing live sheep, and motion pictures depicting Australian life, were some of the features.

$500 Awarded by Judge to Woman For Stolen Kiss

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Five hundred dollars for a stolen kiss! That is what William Flynn, wealthy apartment house owner of the Mission district must pay for having stolen a single kiss from Mrs. Edith Runstadler, according to a decree rendered by Judge Timothy Fitzpatrick, after hearing Mrs. Runstadler's account of the stolen kiss. Mrs. Runstadler, in telling her story declared it occurred in 1922, when Flynn, her landlord, came to her residence to repair window shades.

The woman asked $5000 damages, maintaining it upset her nervous system and resulted in her being ill. She finally agreed to accept the $500.

Offer $1200 Caruso Fellowship in 1924

NEW YORK, July 15.—An operative fellowship affording $1200 and traveling expenses for a year's study in Italy will be awarded this year by the Caruso American memorial foundation, it was announced. Plans are under way to give a similar fellowship annually. The contest for 1924 will be limited to tenors and sopranos.

eyes determine the ability of any person.

Takes 'Em Bobbed, Too.

F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board, is of the opinion that the color of the hair makes very little difference. He stated that he could not see where the blondes and brunettes "had it on" the red heads, or vice versa.

"So long as they do the work they are paid for, it makes no difference to me whether they have red hair or not, and as far as I am concerned, I'll take them bobbed or 'unbobbed,' if they know how to do their work," stated Alex Brownridge, president of the board.

Dr. Roy S. Horton doesn't care if a school teacher has blue hair, he declared. He added:

"School teachers who have red hair are generally good teachers, but blondes and brunettes make good school teachers too."

Cycle Lights Campaign Due To Be Waged

Traffic officers here today were expecting to receive from the state division of motor vehicles orders to enforce a state law that calls for a headlight and a tail light on bicycles, according to H. S. Warner, captain of the state squad here.

Serious accidents, in and near Los Angeles lately, Warner added, had caused a campaign to be waged against lightless bicycles throughout the state, and although no specific orders calling for the enforcement of the law, he added, had yet been received here.

Section 105 of the motor vehicles act provides that lamps on bicycles "shall be visible under normal atmospheric conditions at least 300 feet in the direction towards which the bicycle is facing," and also states that a red light or a reflex mirror is required at the rear of each bicycle.

'LENGTHEN' DAY IN GREENHOUSE BY LIGHT USE

The discovery that the seasonal blossoming and fruiting of plants is caused by the length of day, made a few years ago by investigators in the department of agriculture, has been completely confirmed by experiments with artificial light and colored light. Previous to these investigations normal plants never had been fully developed under artificial light, but it has been shown that under such conditions plants can be grown normally and will produce normal seed.

Artificial control of all the conditions necessary to the normal development of the plants from germination to maturing of the seed has been secured by specially designed apparatus to which no daylight can enter.

The light rays from a gas-filled tungsten lamp are filtered through a layer of running water which carries away most of the heat while interfering very little with the passage of the light.

Use Colored Glass

By means of colored glass or colored chemicals in the water, sunlight can be simulated or light of widely different colors or spectral composition can be obtained, as well as lights of intensities equal to or greater than that of sunlight. The day length is regulated by electric time switches which turn the lights on and off at the desired time. Inside this apparatus daily and seasonal changes may be made to go on at complete variance to the days and seasons going on outside.

Among the more than sixty species of plants which have been grown under these conditions are lettuce, celery, spinach, morning glory, Rudbeckia, Godetia, cypress vine, soybean, bidens, chenopodium and poinsettia.

With all these plants the response to the length of day has been the same as in sunlight. The "short day" plants, the characteristic autumn and winter blossoming plants, blossom when exposed to the short artificial day. The summer blooming plants blossom when given a long day under electric lights.

Practical conditions, say the investigators, preclude the use of artificial light in place of daylight, but it will be possible in growing some greenhouse plants to extend the natural day by use of electric lights to speed up blooming. Obviously this practice will be useful in case of "long day" and "indeterminate day" plants. A relatively low-power illumination can be used, extending the length of day from 16 to 18 hours for many plants. Intense lights have been found unnecessary and wasteful. It is said that for commercial use engineers and greenhouse men must work out the particular requirements of special crops.

Experiments have shown the fallacy of a rather widely accepted view of plant physiologists, particularly those in Europe, that certain wave lengths of visible light are essential to normal development of green plants. Healthy normal seed has been produced with wide variations in composition of the light used.

HALF FAIL TO VOTE

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Almost 50 per cent of the qualified voters of the United States fail to exercise their voting privilege, searches of Simon Michelet, a Washington lawyer, reveal. The largest vote ever cast for president was in 1920, when the total vote for all presidential candidates was 26,713,832.

REAL JUICE OF ORANGES HARD TO PURCHASE

C. S. Skirvin, former newspaper publisher of Iowa and now residing in this city, today called attention to the following, which appeared in a recent issue of a Los Angeles newspaper:

"Why is it that in the home of the orange, one can purchase every deliberate ingenious concoction of chaotic chemistry except orange juice?"

"The Southland is the orange empire of California. In our back yards, on great ranches, in the outskirts of the city—everywhere, hundreds of thousands of acres are planted to citrus."

"And yet when one traverses the downtown district it is almost as difficult to buy real orange juice as it is to find the proverbial needle in the haystack. For your nickel or dime you can purchase orange drink, orange punch, orangeade, or any other orange-labeled drink, but not orange juice."

Content is Disclosed

"Analysis of any of these near-orange drinks reveals that some of them have orange juice in them; some of them have none; some contain citric acid synthetically made; some contain the bitter oils of the orange skin; some contain much sugar; some little; some adulterated with citric acid; some with lemon juice; some with coloring matter which gives it a more brilliant hue; some with extract to give it a more pronounced flavor, some with other fruit juices or near-fruit juices to disguise its taste. In short, every modern ingenuity is used to sell everything but genuine orange juice."

"The orange is the prince of fruits. Nothing is more wholesome than its juice. Few foods can equal it as a thirst quencher, health builder and disease destroyer. Yet notwithstanding every claim in its favor, orange juice can scarcely be bought."

Why?

"Is it because we do not produce enough oranges to make the juice? Thousands upon thousands of boxes rot in the groves because of overproduction, or for the fact that they have some defect in appearance. These so-called culls are still thoroughly fit for the making of juice."

"Is it because the manufacturer is willfully vicious and wants to serve you denatured concoctions? I assure you that he is just as human and just as conscientious as any of us. He does not deliberately want to injure the public health."

"It is you who create the demand; he but fills the supply. Change your demand and he'll change his supply. The manufacturer, the retailer, the advertiser—these people have their touch on the public pulse and know every rise and fall of public opinion."

Urge Ingredients Known

"It is up to you, the public, to change the demand. Learn the ingredients of the drinks you buy and insist on pure drinks. The orange grower will help you as you help him. The citrus co-operative exchanges will help you as you help them. The manufacturers of fruit juice will gladly sell you the pure juices as soon as you have made your wishes known. And last but not least, you will be helping yourself toward that better health, better strength and better life, toward which all of us strive."

67,000 Patent Cases Awaiting Federal Action

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The well-known inventor, Morse Edison Westinghouse, is on the job 24 hours daily, according to the United States patent office.

There are now on hand 67,000 patent cases, 500 design cases and 2100 trade mark cases awaiting action. The patent office is receiving more than 9000 applications per month. During the past two years 216,170 cases were received. The report says it will require five years to catch up with the work with the present force of examiners.

The patent office says it is making a determined effort to prevent complete subversion, although it is making a gain at the rate of 1000 cases per month in acting upon applications for patents, designs and trade marks.

TAX RATE CUT FARM BUREAU PROPOSAL

"The determination of the Orange county supervisors to cut the tax rate by strict governmental economy has met the hearty approval of the farm bureau," declared A. M. Stanley, secretary of the bureau today. "While this rate is exceedingly low in comparison with that of other counties carrying on the same activities, we believe further curtailment of its expense should be made in line with the retrenchment that general business lines are making in their effort to get back to 'beto' the wah' conditions."

"Looking toward tax reduction, the farm bureau has an energetic committee busy studying this problem. It heartily endorses the budget system employed in the different county government departments, and joins the request of the supervisors to make these budgets as low as possible. In compliance with this request, the agricultural extension service, which was among the first to file its budget, lopped off more than a thousand dollars from its annual appropriation. This economy is in line with the farm bureau policy, even though it affects a co-operating agency. The bureau, itself, receives no aid from the county, but is financed by membership dues."

"A study of our county expenditures," continued Stanley, "shows that our schools cost us a large amount of tax money annually. The school system is of incalculable importance and its operations should not be hampered in any way. But school officials could possibly save a large amount of expense by a practice of more rigid economy."

Vancouver Claims It's Cleanest Port

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 15.—Distinction as the cleanest port, at least from the water side, on the Pacific coast is claimed by the harbor commissioners of Vancouver. Despite log booms, drift from the many streams that pour into the sea here and an immense traffic in ocean steamers and local boats the harbor commission has succeeded in keeping the water side of Vancouver clean.

WILL CRESSY'S TRAVELOG

FOLKS KEPT BUSY DODGING TRAINS IN SYRACUSE

BY WILL CRESSY.
(Copyright 1924, N. Y. Service, Inc.)
If some day you should be riding along on the New York Central R. R., and you should look out the window, and should discover that you had left the railroad track, and were running up the main street of a town, do not be frightened; you are only passing through Syracuse, New York.

There is probably no town in America which has "gone through" as much as Syracuse. Not only does the N. Y. C. go through it, but also the Lackawanna and the West Shore. And even the Erie and Oswego Canals puncture it.

Syracuse was named for a town over on the island of Sicily, in Italy. The Italian town was started first in 734 B. C., but this one has grown faster.

This Syracuse was sprouted way back in 1786, under the name of Webster's Landing. About all the town did for the next 38 years was to change names. For if you had lived there during that time you would have had to have your mail addressed in turn to Webster's Landing, Bogardus' Landing, Milan, South Salina, Cossitt's Corner, Cossitt and Syracuse.

But about that time, 1804, the town had a boom. For the whole business, 250 acres, was sold for $6500. But it was a good buy at that.

Owing to the prevalence of railroad tracks and canals the principal occupation of the town is dodging railroad trains and not falling into the canals.

Syracuse is in the grape raising belt. Everywhere you would see them raisin' grapes. Now all you see is grape raisins. And, as Mr.

YOU DODGE LOCOMOTIVES INSTEAD OF FLOWERS

George J. Postum said, "there's a reason." And, as Mister Kipling says:

"Yeast is yeast and the best is a yeast
And all trains shall never meet."

Syracuse leads all the cities in the state in the manufacture of boots (for boot-leggers) gum-shoes (for gum-shoe agents) and plows (for planting barley malt and hops).

It also has large factories for the making of coke, tar, ammonia, carbolic acid and nitric acid and other aids to the Home Brewers and the Undertakers.

While the name of the city is Syracuse, everything else in it is Onondaga. It was taken originally by the Onondaga Indians. The Onondaga Indian Reservation is only six miles out now. It is in Onondaga County. On the shores of Lake Onondaga. The leading hotel is the Onondaga. The Onondaga Tubercular Home is here. Syracuse is a very literary town. They litter in every language and about everything. For instance, consider this list of publications: The Poultry Advocate, The Good Health Clinic, The Suffrage News, Letter, The Orange Sporting Goods Gazette, School Bulletin, The Wesleyan Methodist, Catholic Sun, The German Union, Prezwodnik, Risveglio Coloniale and The Orzel Polski.

Next week Will Cressy writes on Rochester.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

WALKER — "Let Not Man Put Asunder," with Pauline Frederick and Lou Tellegen.

WEST END — "Try and Get It," with Bryant Washburn and "Ladies to Board," with Tom Mix.

YOST — Vaudeville and "Romance Ranch," with John Gilbert.

PAULINE FREDERICK CO-STAR WITH LOU TELLEGEN

Ever since Lou Tellegen first came to this country as leading man for Sarah Bernhardt and witnessed a performance by Pauline Frederick he had the secret longing to play opposite her either on the stage or before the camera. Strangely enough a similar ambition has remained the secret of Miss Frederick, who is a great admirer of Tellegen's work.

Fate kept the two apart until J. Stuart Blackton decided to pictureize Basil King's famous novel, "Let Not Man Put Asunder," which is now showing at Walker's theater.

Although Blackton was the means of these two great stars realizing their secret ambitions, he did not know that by engaging them he was acting as a "wish producer." "Let Not Man Put Asunder" is a highly emotional novel that requires a hand picked cast. Of the hundreds of prominent screen players available, Pauline Frederick and Lou Tellegen were the only two who measured up to the characters drawn by King. They were, perhaps, the only players who could do justice to the theme and present upon the screen a document that would get under the skin.

MIX FILM ROUNDS OUT DOUBLE BILL

Tom Mix has scored another motion picture comedy success. It is called "Ladies to Board" and returns to West End tonight as part of double bill, Jack Blystone, who directed Mix in "Soft Boiled," his most recent example of screen humor, adds another feather in his cap in this production. It is funny, virile and full of Mixian action and proved to be a type of picture admirably adapted to Mix's work.

Gertrude Olmsted as the girl is winsome and displays a rare dramatic ability. Others in the cast are Phil McCullough, Gertrude Claire, Fay Holderness and Dolores Rousse.

SEARCH FOR COPPER.

MADISON, Wis., July 14.—Two geological field parties, made up of advanced students in the geology department of the University of Wisconsin, will search for copper in northern Wisconsin this summer. Both parties, working for the Wisconsin geological survey, will attempt to determine whether the rocks in that region carry copper.

Suggestion has been made for the erection of a broadcasting station at the Peace Portal erected on the United States-Canadian border for the dissemination of peace messages. A New York woman won $500 in a prize contest for the best radio play.

Tom Mix returns to the West End tonight in "Ladies to Board." Bryant Washburn also will be seen in "Try and Get It."

"ROMANCE RANCH" CLOSING AT YOST TONIGHT
Tonight is your last chance to witness "Romance Ranch" at the Yost theater. If you love romance, love scenes, in a picturesque Spanish setting, with the fire of Spanish passion burning through every one of them, do not miss this new production which William Fox uses to star his "perfect lover" John Gilbert.

Under the direction of Howard Mitchell, veteran Fox director, Gilbert acts the part of a lover in a manner entrancing.

"TRY AND GET IT" AT WEST END

Fifty thousand dollars' worth of exclusive furs were used in Bryant Washburn's first production, called "Try and Get It," which will be presented at the West End theater tonight.

The scenes were in a fashionable shop for women's wear and the setting, modeled after one of the exclusive Los Angeles shops, is one of the handsomest ever seen in a picture, say experts.

The furs were all supplied by Willard George and represented everything in the way of up-to-date garments as well as advance styles in wraps, capes, coats, neckpieces, etc.

Detectives were employed to keep close touch on the valuable assortment.

The picture is certain to appeal to the women as well as the men because of the array of feminine frills and furbelows, for, in addition to the furs, a complete revue of fashions of imported character will be presented. The story itself is a high powered comedy with laughs and love well intermingled, it is stated.

World Conditions Hinge on Miners

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—World economic conditions will rest, in some degree, on the deliberations of the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American mining congress at Sacramento, from September 20 to October 4, in view of the range of topics for speeches and discussions appearing on the tentative program for the convention just issued by the department of mines and mining of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, which is in charge of arrangements for the gathering.

Problems covering every phase of the mining industry will be discussed. The magnitude of these and their bearing on business conditions generally in the United States will make the Sacramento convention the most important in the history of the mining congress.

FAITH HEALING IS HELD CURE FOR ILLS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 15.—Disease is caused by personal sin, selfishness and a large percentage of bodily and mental diseases can be cured by faith healing, says Rev. C. Bertram Rummals, eminent sociologist and rector of Calvary Episcopal church, outlining his theory, Dr. Rummals said.

"Our hospitals are over-crowded with the sick of Syracuse; our physicians, our osteopaths our neuro-paths and our psychopaths are working overtime.

"In our homes there are vast armies of men and women who are suffering all sorts of diseases, who are hiding their ills behind a false front. If they had a friend they could trust, like Jesus, they would be relieved of their torture.

"I firmly believe that a great percentage of them are as they are because of personal sin, or, in plain word, selfishness.

"I must pass to the huge crowd who are sick from functional disorders such as neurasthenia, psychasthenia, hypochondria, possessions and obsessions, or, in other words, a straight 'case of nerves.'

Examination Essential
"An honest self-examination is two-thirds of the cure.

"Much of this self-suffering interior unhappiness and ultimate ill-health comes from our shrinking from honest self-discovery.

"And so the consequence of living in a false dream, always saying, 'It is the other fellow's fault,' and 'He's to blame; we are doing all we can.'

"Half of us do not know ourselves. We are self-punished, blind to our own weaknesses and shortcomings and awake only to those of the other fellow.

"That attitude of mind breeds resentment, retaliation and mental murder.

"We never create harmony by thinking hate.

"Now what do I mean by an obsession? Just this:

"Some people have the idea that they have been wronged badly, and they hold that thought until it colors everything they think about.

"It leads to a hopeless state of thinking in a circle, and the circle must be broken before any hope of understanding of things as they are is reached.

Education of Will
"Education of the higher will is the second step to recovery.

"The higher will is on a higher spiritual plane. When our Blessed Lord was in the Garden of Gethsemane He had to make a life or death decision, and He said: 'Not My will, but Thine be done!'

"That is the higher will. And it follows three specific stages:

"1. Give up resentment.

"2. Be willing to surrender even your personal rights for harmony.

"3. By prayer, visible, love and sympathy win the other's affection.

"Lastly comes the matter of personal religion. And what is that? Merely overcoming evil with good.

"And what does it attain?"

"Health, happiness, peace of mind that can stand anything, resist all diseases."

Phonograph Small As Watch Invented For Pocket Wear

PARIS, July 15.—A Hungarian inventor in Paris is seeking to sell the rights to a tiny phonograph, the size of a watch. The instrument has no horn, but a loud sound is obtained by placing it on an ordinary glass, which magnifies the sound waves. The inventor also has another box the size of a watch which contains a dozen disc records.

Toothbrushes and handkerchiefs have figured among the tokens of valor presented by Chinese generals to the troops under their command.

Bus Boy Tries To Pawn $5000 Brooch for $1.00

NEW YORK, July 15.—Joseph Villa, bus boy at the Hotel Devon in West Fifty-fifth street, was picked up in a pawnshop when he tried to sell a $5000 diamond brooch for $1.

The brooch, containing 101 diamonds, was identified by Mrs. Almee Ann May, who, with her husband, a broker, occupied an apartment in the hotel. She told the police the gem was taken from her jewel case April 16.

Detectives Thomas Conklin and Hugh McGovern were in a pawnshop in West Fifty-ninth street when Villa offered the brooch for sale.

In West Side court the boy said he found the gem and was held for further investigation.

LIFE SAVED BY HARD KICK IN BACK

NEW YORK, July 15.—A kick in the back, it was said, probably saved the life of Christ Reiser, 41, of 798 Van Buren place, North Bergen, as he lay on the trolley tracks on the Hackensack plank road at Gehr place, North Bergen, unable to free himself from a charged electric light wire, which had coiled about his right arm.

The current in the wire was augmented considerably by power from the trolley line, across which part of it touched. Reiser's hand was burned badly.

The donor of the kick walked off after his act. Reiser was too dazed from the effects of the shock of electricity and the force of the timely but none-to-genuine boot, to ask his rescuer's name.

Lieutenant Quiller of the North Bergen police, who saw the unidentified stranger boot Reiser to safety wanted to take the latter to the hospital. Reiser refused, but had his burned hand attended at a near-by drug store.

FULLER'S EARTH IN RECORD OUTPUT

The largest output on record of fuller's earth is reported by the department of the interior, 149,134 short tons of fuller's earth, valued at $2,247,523, or $15.07 a ton, being sold in 1923. This output is 7 per cent greater than that of 1922, but it is nearly four times the output of 1913.

The value of the output for 1923 was the third largest that has ever been recorded, and was exceeded by that of 1920 and 1922. It was six times as large as that of 1913.

Since 1920 there has been a steady decline in the average price per ton, the price in 1923 being nearly $4.50 lower than that of 1920.

The South continues to produce the greater part of the output. Florida was the leading state in output and value, as it has been from the beginning of the industry.

Georgia was second and Texas was third in output and value. These three states reported about 92 per cent of the output and value in 1923. The producing states in the order of their output were Florida, Georgia, Texas, Illinois, Massachusetts and Alabama.

Imports of fuller's earth, which at one time constituted the entire supply, reached their maximum quantity in 1914; since then they have on the whole declined and reached their lowest quantity in more than twenty-five years, 8,547 tons. The value in 1923 was $113,944, or $13.33 a ton. The value of imported fuller's earth in 1923 was the lowest since 1909.

ROUGH DOCTOR GETS THRASHED BY BRIDE

NEW YORK, July 15.—Peter Apostle, 45, father of four children, and proprietor of a fashionable osteopathic clinic at Riverside drive and West Seventy-second street, came into West Side court heavily able to see through two swollen, puffy, discolored slits that marked where his eyes had been.

Present to account for those "shiners" was Mrs. Katherine Johnson, 22, pretty, athletic movie daretail and cowboy's bride, who appeared as complainant against Apostle.

"Treated Her Rough"
Apostle's bruises, it was disclosed, were souvenirs of his attempt to teach Mrs. Johnson how to "treat 'em rough" as a professional masseuse. He got them, the young woman said, as a result of his making his demonstration too thorough.

The young woman complained that she went to Apostle's office in answer to an advertisement in a newspaper. Apostle told her, she said, that she could make a lot of money by "rubbing people," that a treatment cost $15, of which he was to receive $10 and she $5. Then he offered to show her how it was done, and took her into a back room.

There she said, he immediately proceeded to tear off her blouse. He got so rough that she had to quell his ardor. Then she rushed to the West Sixty-Eighth street station and told her story.

"Lie Brings '3 Black Eyes"
Detectives Tierman and Cronin went to Apostle's office and brought him to the station. There, confronted by his erstwhile employee, he denied her charge and called her a liar.

Quick as a flash she was at him with flying fists, and before the astounded detectives could count 15 she had floored the osteopath three times, each time with a punch in the eye. When police separated the pair and helped Apostle to his feet he was groggy, but subdued.

MISS ALIAS

By DOUGLAS GRANT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sally Peck, employee of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman sweetheart, Michael Curran, at night Sally goes into the yard to take down a washing for Michael, with whom Sally lives. A fireman, who is the earth and something strikes Sally a blow on the head.

When she regains consciousness the girl finds herself in strange surroundings. A French maid calls her Alva Copeland and Madame Copeland, a tall, richly dressed woman, claims her as her step-daughter. Sally meets Cousin Wheeler, who makes love to her. She resolves to solve the mystery of why she is being substituted for the real Alva Copeland.

Michael Curran and his friend, Captain Trevor, follow the trail of the missing Sally. They go to a garage where a strange girl rents a car and makes a mad drive.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I've been expecting one of you boys might drop over here sooner or later to ask about her. There was something mighty queer about that young lady! Oh, Frank! He called back over his shoulder into the depths of the garage, then turned once more at Mike's anxious question:

"What do you mean by 'queer'?" "Crooked, maybe!" Halloran spat copiously, unaware that the enquirer's hands had clenched at his reply. "All I know myself is that she came there—where we watch you pull off that pretty little raid on his game just now—and wanted to hire a fast car and an expert driver to take her to New York. That might have been about half-past seven. I let her have the best I had for fifty dollars the trip."

"What make car is it? What's the number?" Halloran gave him a quick glance.

"That's what the young lady asked, too! 'Tis a Carmagnac, '20, and the number's 27-760 Z. Here's Frank, and he'll show it to you if you like."

"I'll take your word for it," Mike turned to the younger man who had emerged sleepily from the garage. "Where did you drive the young woman to, in New York, last Tuesday?"

"Nowhere's!" Frank grinned. "She changed her mind after we got well started, and as she'd paid in advance the trip it was no business of mine. The Carmagnac's, just been gone over—reupholstered, painted and the engine overhauled—and she ran like a breeze, so I let her have it for two hours we were on the way to New York. It was then that the young speech and manner swear from her was a lady—leveled forward and touched my shoulder. I slowed down and she asked me what large cities were right near New York. I took her for a stranger, of course, but she bluffed me all right, I guess. Anyhow, I told her Orkney City was the nearest with Oldham just this side of it. She chose Oldham and told me to let her out at the principal street corner there. I did, and there was a feller waiting for her."

"A feller!" Mike repeated stupidly. His throat went suddenly dry and his temples throbbed.

"Looked like a city detective to me," commented Frank. "Bang-up clothes but flashy and his hair plastered down like a movie guy. He came up lifting his hat just as she was getting out and called her by a name I didn't catch. I thought she was going to faint at first but she pulled herself together and said: 'You are mistaken. I am Miss Hosmer.' He gave me a slant-eyed look and says quick: 'Sure you are. That's what I said. Your aunt is waiting for you at this address. She's been worrying about you but I see you're all right.'"

"Her aunt!" Mike repeated again as though in a daze.

"Yeah, and then the feller said he 'saw she was all right' the young lady backed up on to the step of the running board again and I thought it was time for me to butt in. I says to her: 'If you like I'll take you to that address, miss, if it ain't any further than New York. It's already paid for, you know.' She looked sort of undecided but the feller spoke up: 'That's all right, chauffeur. I'm a confidential clerk in the employ of this young lady's uncle and if she told you to drop her here she knows her own business best. I hope you'll hurry, miss; your aunt's anxious.' He lifted his hat again and walked off fast up Martin street, the way we'd come, and the young lady stepped down again, gave me a ten-dollar tip and started off down Brook street. It was to the junction of Martin and Brook that I'd brought her. I thought it was pretty funny but I turned back up Martin street on my return trip. I didn't see that feller anywhere and on a hunch I circled the block on a hunch I just to see if anything was doing and there on the corner of Brook and Railroad avenue he and the young lady was talking together as pleasant and friendly as if they'd known each other all their lives."

"Is that all?" Mike had regained command of himself and his tone expressed amused contempt at his informant's interest.

"No, it ain't!" the latter retorted. "All the way from here she was scared to death—at the pace I was hitting up, I guess—and yet urged me on faster and see how smart she was getting me to name Oldham myself, well knowing that the only busy corner in the whole town was Martin and Brook! Then she pretended not to know the feller and to be scared or uncertain on that card and handed it to her. She just crumpled it up in her hand without looking at it, so I didn't get a sight of it, either, although I was trying to."

"If you were so suspicious of them," Mike's tone was bland, "why didn't you hang around a little longer and see where they went?"

"I did better than that!" declared Frank. "I parked the car amongst the others across at the railroad station the better to watch them but they separated in a few minutes, she going into the side entrance of that department store that fronts on Brook, and him back up Railroad avenue. I followed him into a drug store and when he went into a telephone booth I took the next but when I found I couldn't make out a word he was saying I beat it back to that department store. I had a hunch I'd better keep my eye on the main entrance around on Brook. Gee! I waited there more'n three hours, strolling back and forth to the corner of Railroad avenue but I didn't see anything more of that slick-looking guy."

He paused for breath but Mike with a quick glance at Lieutenant Trevor, who was hovering near, demanded eagerly:

"The girl, Halloran! Had you lost her, too?" "Wait till I tell you! I was still hanging around the entrance to that department store at about three in the afternoon when a woman came out of the hairdressing place next door and started past me toward the station. She had me a blue serge suit and a little on a blue hat and carried a big tan bag. I saw she had black hair and was turning away but something made me take another look and it was the same girl! I'd swear it anywhere!"

Mike uttered a sharp exclamation.

"What make car is it? What's the number?" Halloran gave him a quick glance.

"That's what the young lady asked, too! 'Tis a Carmagnac, '20, and the number's 27-760 Z. Here's Frank, and he'll show it to you if you like."

A PUZZLE A DAY

Two children were told the number of sheep in a pasture, and also the number of cows, grazing there. They were then asked to tell how many animals were in the field altogether. Instead of adding the sheep and cows, one child subtracted the cows from the sheep, and gave 100 as the answer. The other child multiplied the sheep by the cows, and gave 10,000 as the answer. How many sheep and cows were actually in the field?

Yesterday's answer:

When the twelve books are properly rearranged, the letters on them spell "Encyclopedia." As the books originally stood, the letters spelled the words "pony, lace, dice."

EVENING SALUTATION
Faith, Hope, and Love were questioned what they thought
Of future glory which eligion taught.
Now Faith believed it firmly to be true,
And Hope expected so to find it too;
Love answered, smiling, with a conscious glow,
"Believe? Expect? I know it to be true!"

GABBERT "ME TOO" TO THE TIMES

It is to be expected that the Los Angeles Times and the Riverside Enterprise will run columns of printed matter attacking Congressman Phil D. Swing. For years in politics, the Enterprise has been in full accord with the Los Angeles Times. It is well known that the Times has fought Swing because in all the years since Imperial valley was opened up as a great inland empire Swing has stood firmly for the interests of the common people of the valley as against Harry Chandler, the principal figure in a syndicate that owns a great acreage of Mexican lands just below the border. The enmity of the Times to Swing is well known in this county, and for that reason any assertions in attacks by the Times upon Swing is immediately discounted somewhere from twenty-five to a hundred per cent.

Twice, this week, the Times has published under two-column heads editorials that first appeared in the Riverside Enterprise, attacking Swing. One of these articles made the bold claim that Swing is losing ground in Imperial county. The Register's own information from men who are well informed concerning conditions in Imperial valley say that the Enterprise assertions are untrue, that Swing will carry Imperial county with a heavy majority.

Following that information, today we clipped an editorial from the Imperial Valley Press, published at En Centro. It sizes the situation up clearly and forcefully, and set Editor Gabbert right back down in his seat, as follows:

BROTHER GABBERT WRONG

Brother J. R. Gabbert, editor of the Riverside Enterprise, seems to be laboring under a mighty misapprehension and we, as fellow members of the same profession, would like this opportunity to set him straight.

Gabbert, in his mad desire to see Swing beaten at the polls, seems inclined to clutch feverishly at any and all straws that happen to be floating around on the political pond. When there was in the running, Gabbert enthused glowingly and eloquently over Byers' pre-emptive fitness for Congress as representative from the 11th district. When Byers, reading the handwriting on the wall, chose the part of wisdom and forsook the race, it knocked the wind out of Friend Gabbert's sails. But he has perked up again since Senator Ed Sample announced that he would be the new leader of the Swing opposition. Gabbert has thrown himself into Sample's campaign heart and soul—and then some. That's all right. Every voter and every editor in this great and glorious country has the right to back the man he chooses.

But what we do object to is this: Brother Gabbert doesn't stick to facts, and from the way he's headed, it looks like he's going in for a mud-slinging campaign. He has conceived the idea that he can best beat Swing outside of Swing's own county by printing misleading statements about Swing's status here at home. Perhaps Gabbert has been misled by the over-zealous Sample devotees. Be that as it may, we do here and now take issue with the statement contained in the editorial columns of the Riverside Enterprise of Tuesday that "the surprise of the present congressional campaign in the eleventh district is the turnover in Imperial Valley against Congressman Phil D. Swing, whose home is there."

Any one who is at all conversant with conditions here in Imperial Valley knows that this is a malicious lie and is being peddled about deliberately to hurt Swing outside his own county. The Press is in a particularly good position to know the real feelings of the people of the county in this matter, and we do not hesitate to claim that at least 80 per cent of the voters in Imperial county are solidly with Swing.

Any one who doubts needs but to note the hundreds of Swing banners on machines all over the county. Or attend a Swing booster meeting anywhere in the county. Or check up on the word while men and women and organizations who are heartily behind Swing's campaign.

We should like the opportunity of acting as host to Brother Gabbert in a personally conducted tour of the valley to give him a chance to get his information first hand, instead of through the publicity department of Swing's enemies. It might clear up things for him considerably.

It does seem too bad that some folks should regard a campaign of vilification as the only reward suitable for a man who has gone to Congress and worked as unceasingly and effectively for the good of his district as has Phil Swing.

TO ENGLAND FOR LAW

Four hundred members of the American Bar Association have left for England to attend an international bar convention in London.

It is a good thing for those lawyers to go and talk things over with their professional brethren in England. It may be a good thing for their country, too. They will undoubtedly be impressed with the simpler, more direct and more effective court procedure of England, especially in criminal cases.

The two countries started even in the theory and practice of law. Our American law is based upon the English common law. There was a time when American administration of justice was much improved over the English system. Court procedure was pretty effective and satisfactory in this country when England still had its Star Chamber delays. Then somehow law in each country seemed to develop in the opposite direction. In the last century England has greatly simplified its judicial methods and expedited justice, by emphasizing essentials, while America has developed a judicial system that is complex, technical and dilatory beyond any in history.

It is an old maxim that "justice delayed is justice denied." Thousands of Americans have justice thus denied right along, in civil suits, because they lack money or patience to see them through the long series of trials, re-trials, appeals, reversals, etc. Communities over and over again have justice denied because technical and frivolous objections are allowed to interfere with the punishment of guilty criminals. In this matter, at least, America should not be too proud to learn from present-day England.

HUNDRED FOURTEEN MILLION

Big figures no longer carry much meaning, but there is a thrill in the announcement that the United States now contains almost 114,000,000 people and may be expected to reach that total some time in August.

It is a tremendous lot of human beings. Imagine them all lined up for you to count. Imagine them marching past a given point. Imagine them assembled at one place, in a compact crowd. It was not thus that nations were reckoned of old. Many a nation, famous in history, numbered not more than a few score thousand.

It is probably the literal truth, too, that ours is today the most numerous nation in this populous world. There are more Russians in Russia, to be sure, and more Chinese in China and more Indians in India. But in none of these cases does the aggregation of human beings crowded within the recognized geographical boundaries properly constitute one nation. The Russians, the Chinese, the Indians, all are divided into many races, speaking many languages and living as different peoples.

Our 114,000,000 Americans, in spite of their varied origin and the diversity of language and custom found among individuals and localities, are nevertheless one people, with one language and culture, bound together by one great system of transportation possessing one great, highly organized press and one harmonious system of education.

The numerical immensity of the nation is overcome by the perfection of its means of communication. As a result, any American can go anywhere in America and still be among his kind. A little foreign travel shows what a unique blessing this is, for so vast an area and population.

For the instruction of those moss-backed inhabitants of the other part of the state who can neither forget their old prejudices against Southern California nor learn anything new about its accomplishments—for their instruction we should like to see a general discussion north of Tehachas bureau report. The report figures in a recent census southern counties of the state, comprising a little more than 16 per cent of the land area of California, produce nearly one-third of the total farm output of the state. The orchards and gardens of Southern California produce 40 per cent of the state's fruit crops and 33 per cent of its vegetables. The information is referred to the few remaining specimens of the species that think Southern California is a combination resort, sanatorium and old folks' home.—Long Beach Telegram.

Driver's License Means Nothing

San Francisco Chronicle

There is a pressing demand that the method of issuing auto drivers' licenses in California be radically changed and improved. As it exists it is slipshod and careless and entirely inadequate to insure public safety. Any person, regardless of age or physical unfitness, can secure a license for the asking. There is nothing in the law to prohibit the issuance of a license to a babe in arms if the proud parents sign the application and assume responsibility for the damage he might do.

We have a case in our local courts this week of a deaf and dumb man who has been driving for four years. During that period he ran down and severely injured a child, yet, despite his physical defects, he was permitted to continue to menace the public. He recently he ran down a motorman and joined the hit-and-run contingent. That man never should have driven an automobile in the first place, and he would not have done so if our laws governing drivers' licenses were not so loosely drawn and so ineffective.

The little state of Rhode Island will not issue a license until the applicant passes a satisfactory test as to physical fitness, knowledge of traffic rules and experience in handling a car. In that State a license means something. In California it is not even of the importance of a "scrap of paper."

If some would-be politician tells you that Congressman Swing is not supported in his home county of Imperial, give him the laugh. The officers of the farm bureau there are all strong for Swing and they say the vote there of producers will be from 80 to 85 per cent in the congressional favor. And did you ever stop to consider that the farm bureau is about as dependable a political guide as the average man can have? It favors no party, no man—only the needs of the producing and the consuming public—and that is most of us.—Redlands Facts.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

ANOTHER OLD STANDBY

You will remember that when you complained of a stomach-ache as a youngster, that your mother or grandmother immediately gave you a dose of baking soda. This was to get rid of the ache. At another time you would feel uncomfortable, no definite pain, but a disinclination to eat. Again the baking soda was administered. Then with an attack of "gas" or wind on the stomach the old reliable baking soda was called upon to do its work.

What about this? Why, our foremost food experts in these days are describing a condition which they call acidosis, or too much acid in the blood. It is this that causes the intestinal disturbances, the headaches, and much of the tired-out feeling that is so common today.

The eating of foods too highly refined, with too many sweets, and not enough of the vegetables and whole wheat bread, is blamed for a great deal of it. Too much meat and not enough of vegetables and ripe fruit would be the shortest way to describe the cause. Then the common habit of cooking vegetables and throwing away the water in which they are cooked is quite reasonably deplored by these food experts, because the alkaline salts, which are builders, and which neutralize the acid effects of the meat and white of eggs foods are to a considerable extent lost to the system.

If you are getting an insufficient supply of these salts, your whole system, including your disposition is going to suffer. Many a mother has administered the baking soda to an irritable youngster or adult with the idea of "sweetening" the whole intestinal tract, and knowing full well in her heart and mind that she would thus sweeten the disposition also, that she would have an acid disposition, due to the tiredness brought on by this overdose of acid foods.

And so if you want to keep your digestive tract sweet, and help out your disposition somewhat also, eat some green vegetables, whole wheat bread, and ripe fruits every day.

If you are working hard physically, you can eat meat and eggs also, but if your work is light cut down on the meat and eggs. Remember, the dose of baking soda. It corrects the condition if you are careless and eat too much.

"It is alkaline and neutralizes the acidosis." (Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

Observe All Law Faithfully

Pasadena Star News

Upon the strict and faithful observance of all law by the masses of the American people depends the safety of this country and the perpetuity of free institutions. There can be no security without respect for law and obedience to law.

The thoughtful citizen should get the distinction between obedience to law and satisfaction with all laws. There may be laws, from time to time, which are galling and which the people do not want to stand as they were enacted. Here is where the distinction comes in: Duty to country does not demand that the citizen like an unlikely, mayhap inequitable, law. But duty does demand that even an unlikely, inequitable law be obeyed so long as it is law. The path of duty leads to observance of law. The path of opportunity is open, at all times, through constitutional methods, to amend laws or to repeal them altogether. No law is perpetual in this country. Any law may be repealed or amended at any time, through processes established in the Constitution.

This defines, then, the duty of the citizen and the opportunity of the citizen. Duty—obey all laws, no matter how unsatisfactory or defective some laws may be. Opportunity and privilege—move for the amendment or repeal of any and all laws which are unsatisfactory, defective or ineffective. But obey these laws so long as they are laws. Do not undertake to nullify a bad law through unconstitutional methods.

Worth While Verse

SAND

I am lord of the waterless waste, I am king of the desert,
I fill the lone spaces, and sprinkle the floor of the sea;
I sift and I crumble my atoms with passionless labor,
While the ages swing on to their goal, and the centuries flee.

I am patient; I wait while the times and the seasons go over,
Ere I swallow your pomp and your pride, the work of your hands.
I have hidden your far-famed cities, your tombs and your temples,
And their glory lies choked 'neath the weight of devouring sands.

Ye are dragging the past from the deep of untroubled oblivion,
And piercing the secrets of old? It is well; I can wait.
Can ye conquer, O pygmies, whose life is a breath and a vapor?
Nay, behold, I am ancient as Time, relentless as Fate!

AXSIDENTS

Sometimes the most careful people have the worst luck with axsidents and can't even go to bed at night without having the slats fall down, while others eat with their life all their life and never get out. Proving you mite as well take a chance because something is libel to happen anyway.

Falling out of windows is one of the most dangerous forms of axsidents and everybody with a habit of falling out of them awt never to look out of any window higher than the first floor and whatever they do they awt to keep off of roofs.

Many axsidents are discovered immediately, such as putting the rite foot in the rong shoe or poring a lot of salt on your oatmeal in mistake for a lot of sugar, while others are libel to take years before they are found out, such as getting mixed up with somebody elses child wen you are a baby and then after you grow up your mother suddinly remembers you awt to of bin a geri insted of a boy.

One of the most unexpectid axsidents would be to swallow your tooth brush, on-y you hardly ever dont, the nearest you come to it being to swallow some tooth paste once in a while, being neer unft for most people.

Your father and your mother are always telling you to be careful, on-y there is such a thing as being too careful, such as wen you take too long to start to cross the street and a perrade starts to go past and you cant get across at all.

Some people always wear clean underwear on account of being afraid they mite get cawt in a railroad collision or something, while others always wear it for their own consients.

Coolidge's Age

Mr. Coolidge is one of the youngest of the Presidents. Born July 4, 1872, he was 51 years and 1 month old when he was sworn in by his father, John Calvin Coolidge, at the old family home at Plymouth, Vt. Those who reached the chief executive office younger were Polk, 49 years old; Fillmore, 50; Pierce, 48; Grant, 46; Garfield, 49; Arthur, 50; Cleveland, 47; and Roosevelt, 42. Three of these—Fillmore, Arthur and Roosevelt—came into the White House, like Coolidge, from the vice-presidency by reason of the President's death. Of the six who thus succeeded to the highest post—Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, Roosevelt and Coolidge—only Roosevelt and Coolidge afterward won their party's nomination to succeed themselves.—American Review of Reviews.

Land Will Be Higher

Iowa Homestead

To the farmers who bought land at high prices during the recent land boom, present conditions do not appear very encouraging. Those who bought a lot of high-priced land at that time are unable to make interest on their investments and some of them will lose what they paid down on these farms. The future looks dark. It is difficult for them to be optimistic, which is not to be wondered at. They are not to be censured for their outlook. It may not be out of place, however, to remind them of the old saying that it is always darkest just before dawn.

There are certain definite facts pointing to future farm prosperity. According to statistics the per capita acreage in farms has decreased considerably during the last 20 or 30 years. So also has the per capita area in principal crops. There was an increase in the per capita acreage of nine principal crops from 1880 to 1900, but in 1920 the per capita production of these crops was less than in 1900. That being the case, the farmer naturally wonders why prices of farm products are so low at present. In our opinion the principal reason for present unfavorable farm market conditions is lack of buying ability in Europe. Europe is impoverished and unable to buy as much of our products as she did some years ago, but that condition will not be permanent. Europe is going to get back on her feet again and when she does she will probably take more of our farm products than ever.

It is evident that the repatriation question between Germany and France will soon be settled and when that has been done there will undoubtedly be resumption of activities and a consequent increase in demand for food products. This increase will be relatively slow for a number of years, perhaps, but that it is coming is as certain as that night will continue to follow day.

Statistics show that the population of the world is increasing at a rate of about 20,000,000 a year. In the United States the increase is at the rate of 1,500,000 a year. We are growing stronger industrially with passing years. Men are leaving the farms to go to the cities because of present unsatisfactory conditions on the farm. Every time a farmer moves to town, city consumption of food products increases. Besides there will be one less producer left on the farm. This situation is bound to bring about better prices for farm products as well as advancing land values.

As previously stated our population is rapidly increasing and will continue to increase for an indefinite period to come. Similar increases in population are taking place in Europe and other countries and there is no vacant land in Europe. This means that the demand upon our present food supply is going to be greater and greater as the years pass, and it is unreasonable to think that this growing demand for food products will not bring greater prosperity to the farmer.

Land is relatively cheap just now, but let no one be misled into thinking that it will never return to the level of values that existed in 1920. This present period is a most trying one to most farmers, but those who "stay by the wheel" a few years hence, by looking these facts squarely in the face it is difficult to see how anyone can reach any other conclusion. There is plenty of evidence already that farming conditions are improving. This at least is true in Iowa. It is true in all other good farming states.

Homing Instinct

That Massachusetts citizen who sold a horse and threw in the usual halter and found the animal at his door the following morning, fully harnessed and drawing a wagon, was enjoying a novel but not at all unusual experience. The homing instinct is strong in horses.

Country folk, many of whom still depend upon Dobbin to carry the butter and eggs to market, take the children to school and the family to church, and on occasions to bring the doctor in a hurry, are full of tales illustrating the intelligence of these sturdy old drudges that are always available and that rarely of machinery. They not only know the stores patronized by the family, but can be depended upon to find their way home should the occupant of the buggy drop into slumber.

Probably as eloquent a testimonial as could be found for one of these "drivers," as they are called in rural communities, came from a Canadian farmer in the vicinity of London, Ontario, who boasted of a horse that took the children to school and made the trip again in the afternoon, performing his task unaided with a fidelity that has won him the affection of the entire household. This Canadian horse is credited with doing other things betokening the possession of brains. On Saturdays he goes to market, passing the corner where a turn has to be made to reach the schoolhouse, and on Sundays he covers an entirely different route in going to church. He needs no guidance on any day.

NO. 6—MISTER WOODCHUCK'S PRESENT

"I don't believe you're ever going to take my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck crossly to Nick. "Ever since I came here things have gone wrong."

"And at that minute, to make things worse, her hat slid down over her eyes, and Nancy had to fix her all over again."

But by and by she got settled and Nick said, "Now, look pleasant, please," and the camera went click, and the picture was taken and it was all over.

"I hope you didn't mind me looking on," said a voice just then, and looking around they saw Mrs. Cottontail.

"Why, Mrs. Cottontail, I didn't see you," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I didn't hear you come in at all!"

"Well, here I am," laughed Mrs. Cottontail. "I was over all the time taking pictures. You were all talking so much I don't suppose you could hear anything but your own voices."

"It's to be a secret about my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I'm having it taken for a surprise for Wally's birthday tomorrow and he mustn't know a word about it. I know you won't tell."

"Not a word, Mrs. Woodchuck," said Mrs. Cottontail. "I'll be as silent as—as as anything."

"When will my pictures be done?" asked Mrs. Woodchuck.

"They'll be done at half past five," said Nick.

"Just mail the pictures to Mister Wally W. Woodchuck. They'll come before breakfast and I'll lay the package on his plate as though it was a letter. Goodby, Nick! Goodby, Nancy! Goodday, Mrs. Cottontail!"

"Happy birthday!" said Mrs. Woodchuck the next day when her husband came down to breakfast.

"Thank you, my dear," said the woodchuck gentleman. "Why, what's this?" And he picked up the package off his plate where his wife had laid it.

"It's something that came by mail," said Mrs. Woodchuck proudly. "Open it and see."

So Mr. Woodchuck took his knife and ran it along the edge of the package and out dropped a picture of Wally's birthday tomorrow and
